General Winter Makes Peace

There is an old Russian proverb to the effect that "General Winter" defeated Napoleon and sent him reeling, starving and freezing, on the long retreat across the stark, snow-ravaged steppes.

It is a true proverb. But, what we forget is that General Winter is a soldier of fortune—a maverick.

My reading habits are peculiar. They include intelligence reports, carefully digested translations of the Soviet press, and monitored radio programs. Not many of our citizens realize how many hundreds of men and women in this country, and others, have the full-time job of listening to Moscow radio and reading the issues of Russian and satellite newspapers which reach the "outside."

General Winter

This year—or this season—1953-54—General Winter has turned against the Russians. As early as last October blizzards swept the vast land mass called Russia. Heavy, deep-penetrating frosts extended from the Crimea to the Baltic.

Grain has suffered. Researchers picked up a little item from Pravda. On Nov. 10, Tula Province, 100 miles south of Moscow, was being editorially condemned for producing only 39 per cent of its quota of wheat. Moscow province, which adjoins the city itself, was trailing in "fodder" production. There were reports that in central and northern Russia much of the grain and vegetable crops were not harvested and were rotting in the fields. (Why? Our intelligence people study that. Perhaps, and this seems the only explanation, an unusual number of men, young and old, were serving in the army. It would seem to be an emergency call, since there was not time to plan for harvesting the crop.)

Radio monitors took down speeches by Soviet agricultural bureaucrats referring to 1933 and reassuring the people that the "events of 1933 will not recur because the genius of the Marxist system will prevent it." Our intelligence people, and those of other countries, not knowing, The year 1933 marks the great famine era.

Statistics

On Sept. 3 Prime Minister Georgi Malenkov and Secretary Nikita S. Khrushchev talked to all the Soviet peoples and promised adequate food, including extra supplies in some categories.

Four weeks later, without referring to the September optimism, Secretary Khrushchev made another talk. It was guarded. He concluded, "Our country is assured of grain." That must have been a bleak surprise to the Soviet peoples, who, only four weeks before, were assured of "plenty."

Also, a few chickens are coming home to roost. During the Stalin regime, when nothing could fail, and all Soviet accomplishments had to be super, some inaccurate figures were announced. Now, the Soviets are up against those exaggerated statistics.

Our intelligence people—along with those of other listening nations—know the figures announced each year by the Kremlin to the people. On the basis of their own figures the grain crop in the USSR has remained more or less static. Last year's tonnage—130,000,000 tons—was listed as a record crop. Our intelligence looked back to 1937. In that year the Soviet agronomists set the 1942 Five-Year-Plan target at 137,000,000 tons of grain for an estimated population of 180,000,000. Today, with a "record" production of 130,000,000 tons, the USSR has 215,000,000 people.

This means that on a per capita basis the Soviet grain production, on collective farms, is less, on a per capita basis, than in the Czarist years. The acres sown to grain in 1952—according to monitored figures—were but 33,000,000 more acres than in 1913—and the yield was only 6 per cent more. In the United States and Canada the yield has more than doubled in that time.

And so the story runs—it means only this—Russia, too, has trouble and it is General Winter who makes for temporary peace.

Give Forces Modern Arms For Long Job, NATO Urges

PARIS, Dec. 16 (AP)—The 14-nation North Atlantic Treaty Council warned today that its joint forces must be maintained for "a long period" and equipped with modern weapons because of the threat of Soviet aggression.

The council "warmly endorsed" President Eisenhower's proposal for development of peaceful uses for atomic energy and "noted with satisfaction" his intentions to make some atomic information available to NATO commanders.

SESSION ENDS

In a communique winding up a three-day session of the organization's foreign, defense and finance ministers, the council said goals for the current year for land forces were met and almost completed for naval and air forces. It announced it is planning 1956 goals.

The council's communique also said there was no evidence of a change in Soviet objectives and that the main Russian aim is the breakup of the Atlantic alliance. The increasing strength and unity of the North Atlantic powers is a decisive factor in maintaining peace and preventing aggression, it said.

The NATO ministers said the Atlantic Pact forces must be reinforced and equipped with the most up-to-date weapons—obviously referring to atomic weapons.

JOINT ARMY

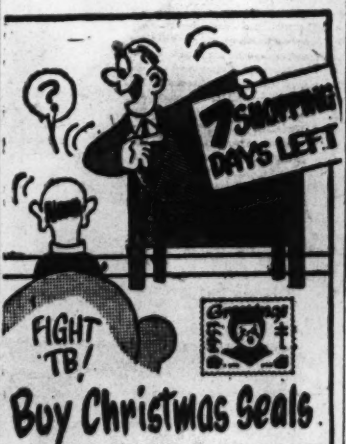

The communique declared a joint army with German units included must be formed to reinforce the alliance's defense. It pointed out that large quantities of new equipment had been made available to NATO to permit building of support units.

Informed sources said the United States delegation, headed by Secretary of State Dulles, made it clear in agreeing to the final communique that an amendment to the American military aid bill bars aid after Jan. 1 to those countries which have not ratified the treaty for the six-nation European army.

The United States delegation also included Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and Defense Secretary Wilson.

GI Asks Talks With Persuaders Despite Threats

PANMUNJOM, Thursday, Dec. 17 (AP)—An American prisoner of the Communists asked today to face Allied "come home" explanations and an escaped South Korean captive said at least five Americans either want repatriation or are willing to try to escape but are held by knife-threat.

Robber of Savannah Bank, Officer Slain in Hour-Long Gun Battle

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 16 (AP)—The crime careers of two bandits, reading almost like John Dillinger's, ended in a roaring hour of gunfire and pursuit early today with one robber and an officer slain and the other outlaw captured.

Myron Goldman, 32, stumbled through a police ring, staggered a hundred yards and fell dead. His partner, Samuel Hornbeck, 34, accused with him in a quarter-million dollars worth of holdups, was captured cowering after a 40-mile chase at 90 miles an hour. Hornbeck was charged with murder.

A heroic officer who exposed himself in an attempt to get in a close shot at the bandits was also killed. He was Patrolman T. A. Robinson. Robinson was not able to shoot for fear of striking two men used by the bandits as shields.

Never in the heyday of John Dillinger and the old Southwest gangs had there been a more des-

ST. NICK VISITS IKE'S GRANDCHILDREN—FT. BENNING, Dec. 16—President Eisenhower's grandchildren, Barbara, 4; David, 5, and Susan, 2, tell Santa what they want for Christmas. David chatted freely, while Susan was scared.

Shared A-Arms, Data Best Policy, Ike Says

By JAMES RESTON
New York Times News Service

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16—President Eisenhower said today that the United States should be free to exchange its atomic information and weapons in any way that best served the interests of the United States.

The President told 161 reporters in his 23rd news conference—the first to be fully broadcast—that the present law governing exchange of atomic information was obsolete, but he did not say precisely how he intended to ask the Congress to amend it.

His experts in this field, however, interpreted his remarks as follows:

1. Congress will be asked not to stipulate precisely what can or cannot be exchanged with other countries, but to give the President and his experts in this field wider authority to decide what atomic information, materials and weapons can be exchanged.

2. The administration wants to be free to tell the Allies how to use atomic weapons and protect themselves from atomic attack on the field of battle.

3. It does not intend, for the present at least, to disclose anything about the chemistry, geometry or engineering of atomic or thermonuclear weapons, and even information about the military techniques of using these

Ike Pledges Own Policy Drive in '54

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (UP)—President Eisenhower said today his 1954 legislative program will be aimed at carrying out GOP campaign promises and that he alone will decide the principles on which it is based.

He told a news conference the program which he will send to the Capitol next month may be changed in detail—but not in principle—at a three-day series of conferences with top Republican legislative leaders starting tomorrow.

JOB FOR IKE

Mr. Eisenhower said it is his responsibility to formulate the principles underlying his administration's legislative program.

While the President did not elaborate, he has had some sharp disagreements with some GOP leaders who will participate in the conferences.

These include a public dispute with Sen. McCarthy, chairman of the Senate Government Operations Committee, on Far Eastern trade policies; and sharp differences with Rep. Reed (R-N.Y.), chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, on basic tax policies.

BOLDS DETAILS

The President withheld details of his program, except to say it will be based on 1952 Republican campaign promises. He said his administration believes in keeping its pledges and is going to try its hardest to do so.

The pledges included amending the Taft-Hartley law to make it less stringent on labor unions, striving toward a balanced budget and lower taxes and adequate military forces for national security.

Mr. Eisenhower did say his program does not now include any recommendations on civil rights legislation.

Potion Pales Pigeons, Dunks Dreamy Ducks

CONCORD, N.H., Dec. 16 (AP)—Three ducks quacked drowsily before sinking into deep slumber today and becoming captives. Meanwhile a flock of pigeons teetered uncertainly around the city park.

This was the result of an attempt to round up a flock of city-owned ducks which rebelled against entering winter quarters.

Only three ducks swallowed proffered food soaked in a sleeping potion. The others retained their liberty, but the pigeons gobbled up the rejected fare.

Beria Confession Claimed as Soviet Sets Stage of Trial

Farm Intake Rises for November

11-Month Total Off by Billion

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (AP)—Cash income of farmers during November increased slightly compared with a year ago, the Agriculture Department tentatively estimated today.

But it reported that the total for the first 11 months of this year, was more than a billion dollars, or 4 per cent, below the same period last year.

Receipts from farm marketings in November were estimated at $3,400,000,000 compared with $3,325,000,000 during the same month last year. Larger marketings of cotton, wheat and corn, including government price support loans on these crops, caused the gain.

Lower prices for cattle, calves, milk and butterfat, however, cut farm income for the month.

January and March of this year also showed estimated increases in cash farm income compared with the same months last year, but declines in all other months more than offset these gains.

For the 11-month period, the department said, farm cash income was just over 28 billion dollars this year, compared with more than 20 billion dollars for January-November, 1952.

Record Low For the Year, 20-24, Seen

Freezing temperatures between 20 and 24 degrees are expected in Atlanta today and tomorrow as the South experiences the coldest weather of the year, the Atlanta Weather Bureau said.

Fair and cold is predicted today, and the outlook Friday is for continued cold, the forecaster said. A 20-degree reading this morning would be seven degrees lower than the year's previous low of 27 recorded in November. Yesterday's readings were 33 and 49.

A high of 40 degrees is expected today, and a high of 48 is slated for tomorrow, the forecaster said. Cold weather has spread throughout the entire South, the forecaster said, with chilling waves recorded last night in extreme north portions of Alabama, Mississippi and Tennessee.

Einstein Advice Brings Defiance of McCarthy

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 (AP)—An engineer who handled secret government work for eight years refused to answer some of Sen. McCarthy's questions today on the advice of world-renowned physicist Albert Einstein.

In Princeton, N. J., the scientist whose formulas paved the way for the atom bomb confirmed he had given that advice. He said he had told the witness not to cooperate with the investigating committee.

It was the second time in recent months Einstein has proposed defiance of congressional investigators.

McCarthy threatened to obtain a contempt citation against the witness, Albert Shadowitz, although the witness also took Einstein's advice in declaring he had never violated any security regulations. He also said he had "no personal knowledge of any espionage or anyone engaging in espionage."

B29 Rams Houses; 16 Die, 17 Hurt

AGANA, Guam, Thursday, Dec. 17 (AP)—A crippled Air Force B29 attempting an emergency landing went out of control today and crashed into an Air Force housing project, killing 16 persons including five children. Seventeen other persons were injured.

The big Superfortress carried a crew of 13 and three observers. The Air Force said the dead included nine members of the crew and two adults and five children as the plane cut a flaming swath through the housing project.

The plane was on a routine training flight from Anderson Air Force Base.

The B29 took off early this morning and a half hour later radioed that the inboard port engine of the four-engine plane was acting up.

The pilot said he would return for an emergency landing.

The plane made one normal landing approach and then decided to circle again. While making the second approach the pilot lost control and sloughed a quarter mile to the right of the runway, slamming into the housing area amid blasts of high-octane gasoline.

Spraying the houses with flaming chunks of the gas-covered wreckage of the plane, the craft destroyed eight officers' homes, partially demolished two other and scorched three more.

6 Top Reds Also Accused Of Treason

By DREW MIDDLETON
New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

LONDON, Dec. 16—Lavrenty P. Beria, former overlord of Russia's security services, has confessed to "state crimes" and will be tried for treason with six other high officials of the Secret Police, the Moscow Radio announced tonight.

One of his six accomplices is Vsevolod N. Merkulov, former minister of state control, who has been arrested and stripped of his power because of his "criminal anti-state actions," the announcement added.

Beria is charged with having headed a conspiracy to supplant the Communist Party with the security forces and restore capitalism to the Soviet Union.

ATOM CHIEF

The bald, plump Georgian also was blamed for the agricultural crisis now facing the government of Premier Georgi M. Malenkov. Stalin's successor and Beria's rival in the struggle for power.

The state prosecutor's office declared in a long statement broadcast tonight that Beria, who directed atomic research under Stalin, had sabotaged the party and government measures to increase farm output.

All the accused have admitted their crimes and Beria and his accomplices will be tried on charges of high treason and anti-Soviet activities at a special sitting of the Supreme Court of the Soviet Union, the statement added.

ON CARPET

The announcement foreshadowed the most important state trials the Soviet Union has seen since Stalin eliminated the "Trotskyite wreckers" in the 30s.

The other accused former officials listed by the state prosecutor's office are:

V. G. Dekanozov, former head of one of the departments of the NKVD (Commissariat of the Interior and forerunner of the Ministry of the Interior, or MVD) and later minister of internal affairs of the Georgian Republic.

B. Z. Kobulov, former deputy people's commissar of internal affairs of the Georgian Republic.

Ga. Plane Crash Spares Navy Pilot

A single-seated Navy plane crashed in a creek bottom near Lexington yesterday afternoon, but the pilot was uninjured.

The pilot, W. L. Franchini of San Diego, Calif., attributed the mishap to engine failure in the F7F Tigercat which he was ferrying from Norfolk, Va., to Litchford Park, Ariz., according to Lt. Comdr. Ed. Gershorn, public information officer at the Naval Air Station here. The plane was demolished.

Atlanta Gas Denied Right To Lay South Cobb Lines

The City of Austell yesterday apparently won the first round of a legal battle with the Atlanta Gas Light Co. over which has the right to supply natural gas to south Cobb County.

All franchises of the Atlanta company to lay gas lines in Cobb County were revoked by the Cobb Advisory Board for what the board termed "bad faith and violation of the franchise."

This left the Atlanta firm without building permits or franchise to lay gas lines in the south Cobb area.

Meanwhile, Austell withdrew its injunction suit to restrain the firm from laying gas lines and yesterday filed a joint suit with the City of Powder Springs against Atlanta Gas Light's lines. Cobb Superior Judge James T. Manning granted a temporary injunction to the two cities, enjoining Gas Light from laying further lines until outcome of a hearing Dec. 28.

After more than two hours of testimony from representatives of the area, Austell and Gas Light, the advisory board yesterday held an executive session in which it also ratified previous actions of Cobb Commissioner Rhodie Ward and the board which excluded five south Cobb militia districts from the Gas Light franchise.

The board said in a resolution the Atlanta firm had "acted in bad faith" in laying its lines in districts which previously had been excluded from its franchise. Gas Light officials contended earlier the commission had approved a franchise for the entire county.

Harold S. Willingham, city attorney for both Austell and Powder Springs, said the joint suit alleges the Atlanta firm's lines were "promoted to beat" an $1,800,000 system planned by Austell to serve that city and south Cobb.

The writ enjoins Foster Yancey, Gas Light's Cobb manager, and the Concrete Construction Co. of Decatur, contractor to lay the lines, from doing further work on the lines.

Gas Light officials last night said they would withhold further comment on the controversy pending the outcome of the joint suit.

roadside they fired three shots. Robinson fell dead.

Hornbeck and Goldman then grabbed the hostages and ran across a field but Long and Hafer ducked into a ditch. Police opened a rain of gunfire. In the darkness, the bandits appeared to get away.

But it developed Goldman was mortally wounded while Hornbeck ran to the home of B. H. Holbrook and, threatening to kill him, took his car.

Patrolman J. C. Patrick spotted him and in a 90-mile chase through the Jacksonville suburbs and on a highway to the southwest overhauled him at

Hornbeck said that he had thrown away his gun and had no part in the killing of Robinson but he was charged with murder and thrown into Duval County jail's "Chinatown," on Murderers' Row.

A manhunt for Goldman was organized at dawn but almost at once his body was found in a ditch beside the field. The bullet that struck the side of his head had not killed him instantly but he died to death as he staggered on the last 100 yards.

Hornbeck and Goldman were accused of big-haul society party holdups in Indianapolis, Nashville, and Omaha, Neb., in addition to bank robberies in Birmingham, Ala., and Savannah. They were from Evansville, Ind.

17-County Corn Awards Given in Gainesville

By JACK GILCHRIST
Constitution Farm Editor

GAINESVILLE, Dec. 16—Corn was king in this chicken capital today as awards were made in a 17-county hybrid corn contest sponsored by the local Chamber of Commerce.

Doyle Anderson of Lumpkin was first in the adult division with a yield of nearly 190 bushels to the acre and Lonnie Walker, Lumpkin 4-H'er, was first in his division with a yield of nearly 170 bushels.

Two 4-H sisters, Wanda and Normagene Burnett of Union County won second and third places respectively in the 4-H contest with yields of 168.3 and 165.2 bushels and their father, Edley Burnett, won second place in the adult division with a yield of 181.7 bushels. All three planted U.S. 282.

Third place in the adult division went to Mrs. W. M. Smith of Lumpkin County with a yield of 168.3 bushels. She planted N.C. 27. Prizes in each division were $50, $35 and $25 plus purebred Hereford bull calves for each winner.

Highlighting today's corn celebration other than the announcement of winners was the selection of a Queen of the Maize. The title went to Joan Coker of Lula, in Hall County. Runner-up was Catherine Waters of Pendergrass in Jackson County and third was Joanne Carpenter of Mountain City in Rabun County. Fifteen county queens competed for the queen title with the winner receiving $50 cash and an afternoon dress fabricated from corn products.

Sumter Court Handed $1 Million Trust Dispute

AMERICUS, Dec. 16—The question of who gets a $1,000,000 trust fund left by Mrs. Jeannette C. Mix for mental research has been handed to the Sumter County Superior Court for settlement.

Mrs. Mix, 84, who died in Americus Oct. 2, first left the trust fund to Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill. But shortly before her death, an amendment was made to her will leaving a trust fund for $1 million to search purposes to Charles Crisp and Dr. Russell Thomas of Americus and a nephew, Donald Caldwell of Chicago.

County Ordinary R. T. Hawkins upheld the amended will and admitted it to probate. Attorneys for Northwestern contend that Mrs. Mix was not aware of her actions when will was amended.

Factory for Blind

Workers at the state's newest factory for the blind dedicated in Griffin yesterday will work at processing hundreds of tiny items used in building the giant Lockheed B-47. The workers will sift through some 7,500 pounds of rivets, screws and fittings each month that are dropped by regular workers at the Lockheed plant. The company says it expects the operation to save it some $3,000 monthly.

West Point Council Okays Negro Police

WEST POINT, Dec. 16—The West Point City Council last night authorized Thomas Jones, chairman of the council's police committee, to hire one or two Negro officers if he considered it advisable.

Jones said that he thought the hiring of two Negro officers for work in the Negro area would aid law enforcement.

Marion Trio Jails Sheriff

BUENA VISTA, Ga., Dec. 16—Three escaped Negro prisoners were still at large today after overpowering Marion County Sheriff W. E. Hinson and escaping here last night.

Sheriff Hinson said he was pretty sure at least one of the prisoners either is in Columbus or headed that way. A blowtorch and chisel were used by C. C. Henson, the sheriff's son and a lumber firm foreman, to free the sheriff, whom the prisoners locked in an inside cell.

The escapees were identified as Frank King, about 75, charged in an assault case; Jim McKinney, about 50, charged in a liquor case, and Gene Battle, about 25, charged in an arson case.

State Chiefs Throw Hats Early To Curb Opposition

By M. L. ST. JOHN

All but one of Georgia's elective state agency directors have announced for reelection in the 1954 campaign.

The early announcements have eliminated some potential gubernatorial candidates, since some among the officers were mentioned as possible candidates for governor. The early statements also were designed to discourage opposition from developing for Capitol posts.

Latest announcement came yesterday from State Treasurer George Hamilton of Atlanta. A potential gubernatorial candidate, Hamilton said he would seek another term in the treasurer's office, instead of running for governor. Hamilton has served as treasurer since 1933, is a former president of the National Association of State Treasurers, and once was treasurer of the National Democratic Executive Committee.

Only Agriculture Commissioner Tom Linder of Hazlehurst has failed to state whether he will seek another term. Linder said yesterday it still is too early to announce his intentions. There was talk several weeks ago that he might run for governor, but it died. Linder was agriculture commissioner from 1935 to 1937 and has served continuously since 1941. He is expected to seek reelection.

Secretary of State Ben Fortson Jr., who had been mentioned for governor; State School Supt. M. D. Collins, Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook, Compt. Gen. Zack Cravey and Labor Commissioner Ben T. Hulet all have said they will run for their offices again next year.

Collins has served as school superintendent since 1933. Hulet has been Georgia's only commissioner of labor, going into the office when it was created in 1937. Cook became attorney general in 1945. Fortson became secretary of state in 1946 and Cravey was elected comptroller general in 1947.

Of all the statehouse officers and judges whose terms expire next year, there is a probability that only one will fail to seek reelection.

Justice Charlie Worrill of Cuthbert, appointed recently to fill the unexpired term of the late Justice W. Y. Atkinson, is past retirement age and he may not seek another term.

Justice J. H. Hawkins of Marietta, member of the Supreme Court; Judge Joe Quillian of Windsor, recently appointed to the Court of Appeals, and Judges Jule Felton of Montezuma and J. M. M. Townsend of Wildwood, members of the Court of Appeals, are expected to offer for reelection.

James Perry of Lawrenceville, member of the Georgia Public Service Commission for 42 years, already has announced. Perry came on the commission in 1911. He is a former president of the National Association of Railroad and Utilities Commissioners. Crawford Pilcher of Warrenton, recently appointed to succeed Perry Knight of Atlanta, who retired, has said he will run for the new term.

George Hamilton of the National Association of State Treasurers, and once was treasurer of the National Democratic Executive Committee.

Tech Alumni Foundation Picks Mitchell

Walter M. Mitchell of Atlanta has been elected president of the Georgia Tech Alumni Foundation and is slated to take office Jan. 1. The foundation, chartered in 1932, is a nonprofit, nonathletic organization dedicated to the general advancement of education. It fosters scientific and economic research aimed at furthering development of state and national resources.

Mitchell graduated from Tech's textile engineering school in 1923 and is vice president and director of the Draper Corp., textile machinery manufacturers. A former Tech football star himself, he is the father of the school's freshman quarterback, Wade Mitchell. Other new officers, announced at the same time by the foundation's trustees, are John P. Baum of Milledgeville, vice president, and William T. Rich of Atlanta, treasurer. R. J. Thiesen of Atlanta is executive secretary. Baum, a 1924 textile engineering graduate, is vice president of J. Youth Assembly To Open Jan. 28

Members of Georgia's Youth Assembly, composed of members of Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y clubs over the state, will take over the State Capitol Jan. 28 for a three-day session of a "make-believe legislature."

The teen-agers will introduce bills, adopt resolutions, and make all the motions of governing the state. The project is sponsored by the YMCA.

Gov. Talmadge has proclaimed Jan. 28 Georgia Hi-Y Youth and Government Day.

So that they would know how to conduct the youth assembly legislative sessions, many of the youth leaders, including youth governor Bobby Williams of Waycross, came to the State Capitol during the recent sessions of the Legislature.

The evening of Jan. 29 the young "legislators" will attend a student governor's reception and ball at the Shrine Mosque. The evening of Jan. 30 a banquet is scheduled at Emory University, to be followed by a dedication service in Glenn Memorial Chapel.

Some 700 are expected to attend the convention.

Officials of the youth senate are M. T. Simmons Jr., Donaldsonville, lieutenant governor; Haywood Day, Columbus, president pro tem; Irma Jean Vickers, Douglas, secretary; Frank Chandlee, Conyers, messenger; Jeanie Pavlovsky, Marietta, doorkeeper; Bill Cadle, Baxley, assistant doorkeeper; Henri Ma-

$200,000 Goal Met By Church

To retire a building debt of $150,000 and build a long-awaited steeple for their church, the members of Atlanta's Morningside Presbyterian Church have pledged $200,221, according to Dr. Arthur Vann Gibson, pastor. The campaign goal was $200,000.

At the same time, the members adopted a 1954 benevolence and current expense budget of approximately $38,000.

Church officers leading the canvass for new funds were Walter M. Boomershire, general chairman; David A. Ahlstrand, canvass committee chairman; Vance C. Woodcox, initial gifts chairman; Dr. L. N. Turk Jr., special gifts chairman, and A. Carroll Cross, teams chairman.

Although the church is 28 years old, the present building at 1411 N. Morningside Dr., N.E., was completed in November, 1949, at a cost of $500,000. The steeple was left off because of insufficient funds at the time of construction.

Since 1949, Morningside's membership has increased from 600 to approximately 1,000. During the same period, the Sunday School has increased from an average attendance of 250 to an average of 400.

Martin, Evans In Lead for U.S. Bench

MACON, Dec. 16.—The main contest for a Federal judgeship in the Middle District of Georgia today appeared to have narrowed to T. Baldwin Martin of Macon and Frank O. Evans of Milledgeville, a state Republican spokesman said.

The spokesman, who would not permit use of his name, and others said W. A. (Gus) Bootle of Macon and A. Edward Smith of Columbus also are continuing to receive consideration from the Georgia GOP leaders who will make a recommendation for the nomination to President Eisenhower.

Bibb County's Republican organization apparently is largely behind Martin for the appointment, although some of its members are known to favor Bootle. Both Martin and Bootle are members of the Bibb Republican Executive Committee and Martin is state GOP treasurer. Secretary Marvin Elliot of the Bibb Republican organization said Tuesday he believed Martin would get the appointment.

Republican leaders in a number of other middle Georgia counties have endorsed Evans for the judgeship, as have Fourth and Sixth Congressional District GOP chairmen.

Fluoridation Seen Winning Health Board

Members of the Fulton County Board of Health are expected to go on record today as favoring fluoridation for Atlanta's water supply.

The controversial issue of fluoridation will go before the board for the second time at its regular meeting this morning. A representative, who declined to have his name used, said the board "would not recommend that the city should or should not adopt fluoridation but is expected to make a statement regarding its merits."

Atlanta's City Council last year refused to adopt fluoridation after a lengthy public hearing marked by heated pro and con debates on the proposal to fluoridate the city's water supply.

The health board took up study of the process after city council said the health agency should sanction and finance fluoridation if it were adopted here. The board today will discuss a final recommendation based on a hearing it conducted last summer.

CLOWNS CAVORT WITH SANTA AS POTENTATE ARRIVES

5,000 Shriners Cavort As Santa Doles Gum

Confetti blowing machines, a callopie and a Santa Claus who gave away bubble gum were the order of the day on downtown Peachtree Street yesterday afternoon as the North Georgia Shriners staged their initiation ceremonial parade.

Some 5,000 Shriners, dressed in gaily colored uniforms and weird costumes, took part in the parade, which moved from Baker St. down Peachtree to the City Auditorium.

Marchers included the Million-Dollar Shrine Band, the Oriental Guard with flashing knives, the Oriental Band, the Drum and Bugle Corps, the Red Devils—all the things that make a Shrine parade fun to watch.

"Honor guests" were 300 candidates for initiation. Some rode in a cage with goats, some rode in a paddy wagon, some walked behind a fire truck—and eight of them pulled Santa's sleigh.

A corps of mounted Shriners put their horses through intricate paces, and a group of clowns played tricks on onlookers.

And, as people will when a parade is going on, throngs of Atlantans paused in their Christmas shopping and stood on windy sidewalks to watch the goings on.

The Shriners concluded their convention last night at the Red Fz Club at 400 Ponce de Leon Ave., N.E., with initiation of 311 Shriners from over north Georgia. Final initiations followed a speech by Rennie Arnold of Petersburg, Va., imperial potentate of the Shrine, and a band concert.

Court Approves Merrifield Pact

Mrs. Anna Marie Becker Merrifield has been awarded temporary alimony pending trial of a divorce suit she brought against her husband, George E. Merrifield Jr., assistant business manager of Atlanta Newspapers, Inc. Fulton Superior Court Judge Walter Hendrix yesterday approved an agreement between the couple. Mrs. Merrifield, 30, seeks a divorce on the grounds of alleged cruel treatment.

Talmadge Accepting Relief Gifts for Pusan

Cash or checks for the relief of victims of the Pusan fire may be sent to Gov. Talmadge's office, Executive Secretary James Bentley announced last night. The governor issued an appeal for Georgians to join Americans in sending aid to these people in Korea.

Washington Must Lead in CD, Mayor Says

Mayors of leading American cities believe Civil Defense is a prime function of the federal government, Mayor Hartsfield said yesterday as he returned to Atlanta following a CD conference in Washington.

The mayor said he and mayors of approximately 175 other cities were briefed early this week in confidential conferences on the atom and hydrogen bombs.

"During the discussions, disagreement developed between federal officials, headed by Val Peterson, national CD director, and mayors as to how the CD program must be financed," Hartsfield asserted.

"Mayors pointed out that CD is of national interest, that defense plants must be protected and that skilled workers also deserve protection from the national government. We took the position that such protection is a prime interest of the federal government.

"We also pointed out that city tax resources are limited in most cases and that state and federal governments have pre-empted many fields. This means that cities cannot make the huge outlays required and remain solvent. It also means that if the matter of Civil Defense is left entirely to cities, there would be no uniform or integrated national program even if the cities were able to finance CD.

"Cities of the nation want to do everything possible to protect their citizens and the country, but there are limitations. We hope the matter can be reappraised and that a solution will be found. We are anxious to do our patriotic duty and will make any sacrifice possible, but we think the entire program must be approached and solved on a national level with adequate finances to make it effective."

2 Youths Held In Theft of Auto

Two teen-aged youths were turned over to Fulton County juvenile authorities yesterday on charges of auto larceny after being chased into a barn loft in Clayton County by bloodhounds, police said.

Clayton Ptl. J. A. Starr and Ralph Smith said they gave chase after seeing the two youths, aged 13 and 14, run from a parked car on U.S. Highway 41 south of Hapeville. They said the auto was reported stolen Tuesday from Ridge Avenue, S.E., in Atlanta.

Top State Court Sets 4th Delinski Hearing Jan. 13

The Georgia Supreme Court has scheduled its fourth hearing of the William Delinski case for Jan. 13.

Ike Greatest Leader Of Our Time, Dewey Says

HARTFORD, Conn., Dec. 16 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York tonight hailed President Eisenhower as "the greatest leader of our times" and blasted the Truman administration, which he associated with "diplomatic failure, military failure, death and tragedy."

Dewey credited Eisenhower with having "forced a truce in Korea," and said the Republicans had cleaned "spies and traitors" out of government.

In a prepared speech at a Republican $100-a-plate dinner, Dewey contrasted the administrations of Truman and Eisenhower.

Dewey, twice-defeated GOP candidate for president, said the words "Truman and Democrat" were "synonymous with Americans dying, thousands of miles from home, because they did not have the ammunition to defend themselves."

"Remember," he added, "that the words Truman and Democrat mean bungling our country into war and the lack of courage or the capacity either to win the war or to win a truce. . . . Remember that the words Truman and Democrat mean diplomatic failure, military failure, death and tragedy."

"Remember," Dewey urged, "that the words Eisenhower and Republican mean competence, decency, efficiency, victory and peace."

"His historic proposal at the United Nations for the development of peaceful use of atomic energy marks a new epoch."

"Under this kind of leadership we may yet live to see the military casing stripped from the atom."

On the Harry Dexter White controversy, Dewey said his fellow Republicans had "told the truth

Machine Age Fails At Cleaning Greens

RALEIGH, N. C., Dec. 16

(AP)—Here's a hint for housewives from Jim Chaney, political reporter for the Raleigh News and Observer: Don't wash turnip greens in the washing machine.

Chaney, stuck with the greens-cleaning job while his wife was shopping, figured it would be more efficient to do it mechanically. Mrs. Chaney took one look at the results and washed her hands of the whole mess.

Actually, Chaney confided later, he made one little slip. He had the machine set for hot water and the greens came out pre-cooked.

about how the last Democrat president promoted a spy and allowed him to remain in high public office."

"When agents of an aggressor nation are permitted to make policy for this country," he declared, "then those who are responsible face a fearful accounting at the bar of public opinion and of history."

Mother Pursuing Thief of Family Car Phones Police as Taxi Plays Bloodhound

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 (AP)—Women are a relentless species, as any man knows. Take, for example, Mrs. Dolores McClosky, 22.

She heard the family car early this morning outside her 20th St. apartment and looked out the window in time to see a thief drive it away.

Without waiting to put on a coat, Mrs. McClosky hit the street running and grabbed a cab. She trailed her car block after block as it twisted and turned and ran red lights in lower Manhattan.

Finally, the thief abandoned the car. Mrs.

McClosky called police while the cab driver followed the thief.

The police joined Mrs. McClosky and it took them only a few minutes to find their quarry. He was walking along the street with the cab trailing him like a bird dog.

After he was booked, Mrs. McClosky suddenly remembered her husband, Joseph, and her 4-month-old daughter, Susan. As she bade the cops adieu, the relentless Mrs. McClosky told them:

"I've got to get home. Joe doesn't know how to take care of the baby."

Ike Wins in Court Test On Firing 'Policy Makers'

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (AP)—The Eisenhower administration won a court test today of its claimed right to put its own supporters in policy making and other positions, despite Civil Service rules.

U.S. District Judge Richmond B. Keach ruled the President has the power to remove a position from Civil Service classification, and to fire the man holding the job despite his claim to protection.

"LARGE NUMBER"

Whether that is good or bad, Judge Keach said, "is not a matter for the court." But he said "the court is aware that under its decision the statutory safeguard from summary removal relied on by a large number of government employees is held not to exist."

The judge did not—and the Civil Service Commission said it could not—say how many government employees might be affected by the decision. It applied specifically to Leo A. Roth, who was fired last July from a $10,800-a-year job as a Justice Department attorney.

The court's opinion that "there is no express limitation on this power" of the President to add or remove positions from Civil Service could make it broad enough to apply generally throughout the government. But President Eisenhower has repeatedly said he has no plan for wholesale firings among the two million or more workers protected by Civil Service.

AGREED ON VIEWS

The administration has taken the stand it has the right to fill policy-making positions with persons agreeing with its views, but that many such positions still are filled by holdovers from Democratic administrations who claim Civil Service status.

Roth, a career government employee for 15 years, contended he received Civil Service status in his job in 1940 and could not be fired without hearing on specific charges.

ATTACK VICTIM—SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 16—
A 13-year-old neighbor youth admitted to police today he nearly beat Linda Frey, 14, to death with a length of steel pipe. The girl was recovering at Mary's Help Hospital from at least 30 deep cuts on her head, hands and face and had most of her teeth knocked out.

West Blocks East German Parley Bid

BERLIN, Dec. 16 (AP)—Communist East Germany moved today to elbow its way into the projected Big Four foreign ministers parley in Berlin, but ran into firm blocking from the West.

The Red regime proposed that both East and West German governments be represented when the Russians, Americans, British and French deal with the question of German unity.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's West German government said

Junk Wagon Steeds Munch Santa's Hay

DETROIT, Dec. 16 (AP)—Santa Claus came today—for 26 Detroit horses.

The steeds, most of them owned by junkmen, got a bale of hay, a bag of oats, a bunch of carrots and a handful of apples.

Santa visited them in an alley behind the Michigan Humane Society's shelter. Inside, their masters sipped steaming coffee and ate doughnuts.

Actors Ignore Camera Halt, Keep Fighting Over Susan

OURAUPAN, Mexico, Dec. 16

(AP)—Actors Gary Cooper, Richard Widmark and Cameron Mitchell got serious during the filming of a fist fight over red-haired actress Susan Hayward today and ended up needing first aid.

The slugfest was supposed to be only technicolor play acting for 20th Century-Fox's "Garden of Evil."

But the three actors kept on slugging after the cinemascope cameras stopped turning.

Director Henry Hathaway had to part them.

The actors, who claimed they didn't hear the order to quit fighting, mumbled apologies and shook hands. But after being treated by the company doctor they went their separate ways.

Atom Arms Sharing Is Aim of Ike weapons would be made available on a selective basis. The governing principle on disclosure would be maximum security from capture by the Russians.

4. The President will continue to make people conscious not only of the military but of the civil uses of atomic energy. With this in mind, he will do what he can to make the peaceful uses of atomic energy available to peace-loving countries even if the Russians refuse to go along with his proposal for a world pool of atomic energy.

ASSUMED MONOPOLY

The McMahon Act, passed in 1946 on the assumption that the United States would have a monopoly of atomic weapons for a considerable period of time, limits in the strictest way the administration's freedom to exchange information on weapons in this field with other countries.

While the President thus made clear that he favored a more liberal policy toward the Allies in the atomic field, he left no doubt that he was behind Secretary of State Dulles' recent warning to the Allies that they should ratify the European army treaty or risk a change in U.S. European policy.

Asked about this the President pointed out that the Richards amendment to the present foreign-aid bill stipulated that 50 per cent of this year's appropriation should be made available through the proposed European army, rather than separately to the various countries of Western Europe.

NOTHING NEW

"I am a little astonished," the President remarked, "that anyone should take this (Dulles' statement) as something new, and particularly blunt. It is just one of the things that the Richards amendment requires of us."

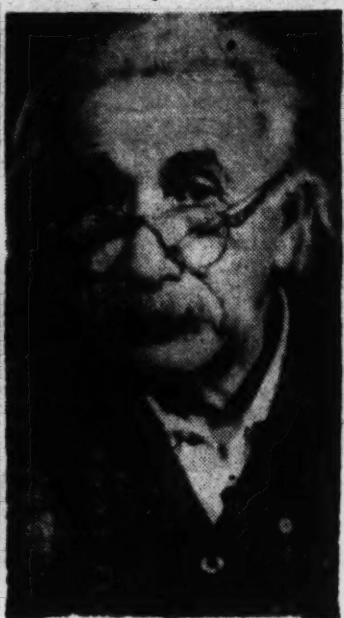

The President added that Dulles had merely repeated many things in which most of us believe, namely that a greater unification of Europe, politically, economically and militarily, will greatly add to the safety of the Western world.

"We are for it," the President concluded, "I must say that the facts I have just recited are plain for all to see; the facts of the case are there."

On other subjects Eisenhower said these things:

He indicated agreement with Gen. William F. Dean that American soldiers would have been able to stand up better in the face of Communist propaganda if they had a better understanding of the meaning of America and a better discipline in their home lives.

He added with some feeling that he did not like the phrase "juvenile delinquency," and thought that a better term would be "parental failure."

2. He refused a request for a detailed breakdown of the reasons why some 1,450 persons recently had been separated from government service. He added, however, that not all of them had been discharged for subversion.

3. He said he was going to Augusta, Ga., on Christmas Day to get some exercise and to complete work on his State of the Union and other messages for Congress. Incidentally, he apologized to the reporters who would have to leave their families on Christmas Day to accompany him.

'Confession' Sets Stage for Beria Trial

later deputy minister of state security of the USSR and recently deputy minister of internal affairs for the Soviet Union.

S. A. Goglidze, former people's commissar of internal affairs and lately head of one of the departments of the MVD of the Soviet Union.

P. V. Meshik, former head of one of the administrations of the NKVD and lately minister of internal affairs of the Ukrainian Republic.

L. E. Vlodimirovsky, former head of the investigation department for "vitally important matters" of the MVD of the USSR.

The government's announcement marks the elimination from influence of "The Georgians" who, led by Beria, had achieved supremacy in the security apparatus of the Soviet state, under Stalin, a Georgian himself. It also marks the start, officials here predict, of another purge in which the chief security officials of the Communist state will be devoured by the state, just as a number of their predecessors have been before them.

Since the Cheka, which took over from the Czarist police, gave way to the Q. G. P. U., which was in turn replaced by the NKVD and the MVD, the successive chieftains of the Secret Police have, one by one, died violently.

Beria will be tried on charges of treason to the country, the Moscow Radio said.

"Confronted with the evidence of witnesses examined during the investigation, as well as with genuine documentary facts, the accused admitted to having committed a number of state crimes," the announcement added.

Other charges, in addition to treason, are "the organization of an anti-Soviet plot, the commission of terrorist acts, an active struggle against the working class and the revolutionary workers movement carried out by Beria in his work as a secret agent for the organs of the counter-revolutionary intelligence of the Mussavatist government during the civil war."

Beria and his group of plotters, "in the interests of foreign capital," planned to "seize power and to liquidate the Soviet worker-peasant regime with a view to restoring capitalism and securing the revival of the domination of the bourgeoisie," the Moscow announcement asserted.

France To Elect President Today

PARIS, Dec. 16 (AP)—Parliament meets in Versailles Palace tomorrow to elect a new president of France from a hodgepodge of candidates. President Vincent Auriol, 69, is rounding out a seven-year term and says he doesn't want another.

The meeting is scheduled for 2 p.m. (8 a.m. EST).

Premier Joseph Laniel and six other prominent members of Parliament are officially in the field. Two or three others are mentioned as possibilities in event of a deadlock. In addition 253 plain French citizens have announced they would like to live in Elysee Palace—the French White House—and draw the presidential salary of four million francs ($11,428) a year.

Traditionally, the French president is above politics. The theory is that the man selected should be so outstanding there is no necessity for him to actively seek the office. Actually the senators and deputies have had little time for anything but politics the past few days as they tried to get their favorites into good strategic position for the race.

The election seems certain to beat at least one record. Never in history has it been necessary to take more than two ballots to elect a French president. The second ballot has been used on only four occasions. This time, veteran observers expect no decision before the third—and possibly fourth—vote.

If it goes that far and a real stalemate develops, the final solution may be to insist that Auriol agree to another term. It is believed he would accept a genuine draft.

The officially announced candidates, in addition to Laniel, are Jacques Fournier, former president of the Assembly of the French Union, an Independent; Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, a member of the Popular Republican Movement; Yvon Delbos, a former minister and member of the Radical Socialist Party; Sen. Andre Cornu, minister of fine arts, a Radical Socialist; Marcel Naegelen, former governor general of Algeria, a Socialist; and Marcel Cachin, 84-year-old Communist, who is the oldest member of the National Assembly.

The plain French citizens who want the office are called "candidates of fantasy" in the French press. They have received no official encouragement. They have been told they are not even entitled to attend the election and must pay for having ballots with their names printed on them. Constitutionally, there is no bar to their candidacies.

Gl's Skiing on Straw In Austrian Alps

SALZBURG, Austria, Dec. 16.—American soldiers are skiing on straw in the Austrian Alps due to the prolonged absence of snow, it was reported here today.

Some 200 enlisted men and 13 officers, who started a five-week ski course at the mountain training center ski school at Saalfelden on Dec. 6, had no chance to learn their rudimentary steps and turns and cross country ski techniques until ingenious school officials provided straw in lieu of snow.

Ohio's George White Dies

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. dental campaign for Ohio's Gov. Dec. 16. (AP)—George White, the genial, cigar-smoking former governor of Ohio, died here late last night at 81.

He had been a patient at Good Samaritan Hospital since Dec. 10. The name of the Elmira, N.Y., boy who struck it rich panning for gold in the Klondike was a familiar one on the national political scene. He led the unsuccessful presidential campaign for Ohio's Gov. James M. Cox of Dayton the year Cox was defeated by another Ohioan—Sen. Warren G. Harding of Marion. Franklin D. Roosevelt ran for vice president on the ticket with Cox that year. White tried unsuccessfully for the presidential nomination himself in 1932 as a favorite son candidate from Ohio. His second wife, Agnes, was at his bedside when he died last night. He defeated the Republican incumbent, Myers Y. Cooper, to become governor of Ohio in 1930. Two years later he defeated David S. Ingalls of Cleveland for a second term. He previously had served three terms in Congress as representative from the Marietta, Ohio, district. White was married. His wife later died, leaving him four children.

White was born in Elmira, Aug. 21, 1872, son of a small retail businessman who went broke in the panic of 1873.

White's father started over again in Titusville, Pa. There George helped out, selling newspapers and working in stores. He entered Princeton University in 1891.

After Princeton, his career included stints as school teacher, tool dresser in the Pennsylvania and Ohio oil fields, gold prospector in the Klondike during the gold rush of 1898, and independent oil producer at Woodsfield, Ohio.

In private life, White was a vice president of the Peoples Banking & Trust Co. of Marietta, where he moved in 1903, three years after

For a man who spends the better part of his time trying to destroy himself, Francisco Eduardo Menendez is an exceedingly sane individual. It all depends on just how you want to make a living.

Some people do such dangerous things as drive a city bus, and run reducing salons, and deliver mail. Francisco Eduardo Menendez amuses himself at the hilarious sport of crashing automobiles at 35 miles per hour, and getting out of an automobile speeding along at 100 miles per hour, and leaping through the air from ramp to ramp at the wheel of a car that must have some kangaroo in its bloodline. Oh yes, he's also turned over on purpose 300 or 400 times. So many times he lost count.

Just clean, suicidal fun. You can't get killed but once, and if you don't think about it, it doesn't hurt.

"Hey, you're making this sound pretty bad," said Frank Mundy, who is in reality Francisco Eduardo Menendez on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and the rest of the week as well. "I'll admit I've jumped out at 100 miles per hour, but I was wearing an asbestos suit and holding onto a rope to break my speed."

"I've done that ramp jump, too, but that's as simple as shaving your face. It's all a matter of timing. That's the jump that Lucky Teeter used to do. He got killed on his 23rd try. I've done it over 80 times and never been even jarred yet."

"Same thing with those collisions and turning over. It's all in knowing how to do it. I'll admit that crashing two cars together at 35 miles per hour gives you the same impact as falling from a 10-story building. But I wear seat belt and shoulder straps. It's just as safe as sitting in a rocking chair."

—Zero to 12,000 Feet With No Guard Rails

He grinned like a friendly tomat in one of those movie cartoons. His teeth were straight and they glistened. His head wore a full dress of black, pitch black hair. There wasn't a mark on his face.

This reckless fellow hadn't been home long from what even he would admit is a pretty stiff grid. He had driven the killer Mexican road race, the five-day trip from the Guatemala border to Juarez.

"It's the toughest race in the world. That first day you start at sea level and climb to 12,000 feet over roads that have no guard rails. You just push and brake and try to keep out of the ravines. Those sport car drivers were getting killed off in droves. They got no protection at all, you see, open cars with no head guards. You go off the road in one of them and it's curtains."

"Me, I drove a Chrysler, me and John Fitch. He's a sports car driver himself, about the best in the country, I guess. But we got together and drove for Carl Kiehafer, the fellow that makes outboard motors. It takes two drivers, of course. We knocked out the rear end on the fourth day and couldn't finish."

"Lot of those fellows said they wouldn't be back next year. Too dangerous. You know, all those curvy roads with no guard rails, and narrow, I'm going back. They give $17,000 first prize. I'm going back."

—Stribling Had the Things He Wanted

The unscathed Mundy was inspired to this dangerous career on stunt driving and racing by a boxer, not another driver. He was an inmate at the Masonic Orphans' Home in Macon in 1928. Several days he noticed a fine figure of a man jogging along a road back of the place and one day he pucker up his courage and stopped the jogger.

It was W. L. (Young) Stribling, training for a fight. Stribling was more than a boxer, but a sportsman who loved fast cars, motorcycles and planes, anything that moved in a hurry.

He didn't know it, but he became little Francisco Eduardo Menendez's personal hero. The orphan boy made up his mind he wanted everything Stribling had, motorcycle, fast car, even a diamond ring like his.

"See," he said, and he held up a ring finger that groaned under the weight of a big sparkler. "Just like Stribling's."

He wanted everything but the prize fight ring. He didn't care to get banged up, so he became a racer, after he'd been a stunt man. Somewhere between acts of intentional mayhem he settled in Atlanta. He's 35 years old, been through a couple of personal wars with NASCAR, bolted to the AAA and won the national title under the new management this year.

"You've been rather remarkable up to now," Mundy was told. "You haven't insisted that it's safer out on the track than it is driving on the highway. I thought that was stock material with race drivers."

"What, and make all these people think it isn't rough out there? Pretty soon everybody would be wanting to jump out of cars going 100 miles per hour, and crashing at 35, and jumping from ramp to ramp. I'd like to keep my business as exclusive as possible."

And Francisco Eduardo Menendez chuckled politely at his own whimsy.

ON THE BOWL FRONT

Alabama Aims Aerial Arm at Rice

Condensed From Wire Reports
Alabama used the forward pass sparingly during the regular season but indications are that the Crimson Tide will open both aerial barrels against Rice in the Cotton Bowl.

Quarterbacks Bart Starr, Al Elmore and Ollie Yates filled the air with passes at Tuscaloosa as the Tide worked full-speed toward its Dallas battle.

Halfback Corky Tharp returned to heavy duty. He had been handicapped by a shoulder injury.

HOUSTON, Texas—Rice's Owls began a two-day workout schedule today, winding up with a scrimmage against Alabama plays. "We've had three very good days of work," said Coach Jess Neely, obviously pleased with the progress made since the team began Cotton Bowl preparations Monday.

NORMAN, Okla.—Gene Calame regained his first-string quarterback position as Oklahoma scrimmaged in preparation for its Orange Bowl game against Maryland. Calame has been practicing with reserves lately while Pat O'Neal spelled him.

COLLEGE PARK, Md.—Bernie Faloney worked out with freshmen as Charley Boxold, Lynn Beightol and Dave Nusz filled in for the injured all-America quarterback in Maryland drills. The PASADENA, Calif.—The Michigan State football team arrived for their Rose Bowl engagement with UCLA. Players were greeted by bowl officials, then hustled off to a gigantic downtown welcome.

PUBLIC VOTES TECH'S TEAS TO WISNER'S ALL-AMERICA

Blond Bill Teas has made his first all-America football team.

Georgia Tech's 165-pound right halfback, the club's No. 1 runner, got word yesterday that he had won a halfback position on Harry Wisner's all-America team picked for Mutual Broadcasting System by public vote.

Some time before the Jackets enter their Sugar Bowl game with West Virginia, Teas will cut a one-minute tape recording to be played back on Wisner's sports broadcast of Jan. 4.

The Andrews, N.C., junior led the club in rushing this fall with 522 yards in 102 carries. He averaged 5.1 yards per play, 47.5 yards per game. He also caught seven passes for 132 yards and a touchdown and had a perfect one-for-one passing chart on the freak touchdown he completed to Jimmy Durham against Georgia.

Trippi Says He'll Quit After 1954

Pro Grid Great Takes TV Fling

By EDWIN POPE

Charley Trippi, all-time great halfback for the University of Georgia and Chicago Cardinals, will quit playing football after the 1954 season.

But the 31-year-old Sicilian-American wants to stay in the game either as pro scout or coach, college coach or television commentator.

Trippi told of his plans at the huge Georgia football rally here last night.

"I'm still in one piece, still never seriously hurt in 16 years of football through high school, college, the army and the pros," he said after flying in from Chicago, "and I believe I can give the Cards their money's worth one more year. I'm definitely quitting at the end of the '54 season, when my present contract runs out."

Trippi said he would have his own TV program before each Notre Dame game next fall. He also hopes to get into TV or radio work here between now and next July, when he reports for his final playing season.

"The Cardinals have promised me a lifetime job as scout or coach or both," he said, "but I don't know just yet what I'll do. The idea of combining a TV-radio career with some football job appeals to me, but I'll have to wait to see how the land lies."

The Pittston, Pa., native, an all-America pick at Athens in 1945-46, was the only Card selected for the Pro Bowl game to be played Jan. 17 at Los Angeles. He cracked that the Cards had an even worse season than his alma mater—"We lost 11 straight at one stretch"—but denied that Head Coach Joe Stydahar was to blame. "He's a good coach," said, "and did a good job under the circumstances."

The handsome, curly-haired ace got a kick out of reuniting acquaintances last night, with old Georgia pals who have become his enemies in the National Football League. "This is a lot nicer," he said, "than the way we usually met."

One of Trippi's best friends and a former Bulldog star, Washington Redskins' end Joe Tereshinski, called Trippi "still the best back in pro football."

Trabert Gives U.S. 1-0 Lead

BRISBANE, Australia, Dec. 17 (Thursday) — Handsome Tony Trabert, less than a year out of the Navy, blasted veteran Philippe Washer, 6-4, 6-2, 6-4, today to send the United States into a 1-0 lead in the interzone Davis Cup final against Belgium.

The Americans, seeking the right to challenge Australia for the coveted cup—the symbol of international tennis supremacy—sent Vic Seixas against Jacques Brichant in the second match of the best-of-five series.

Crackers Buy Hurler Lopez From Smokers

The Atlanta Crackers last night ran their 1954 roster to 24 players—half of them pitchers—by buying right-handed pitcher Jose Lopez from Tampa.

Cracker President Earl Mann made the announcement.

Lopez, a big fellow, was bothered by arm trouble last season. He had a 3-10 record.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, DEAR EDDIE

Ez Charles Blasts Wallace in 10th

Coley Kisses Canvas Twice Before Ref Halts Battle

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 16 (AP)—Former heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles, fighting for another crack at the title, stopped Coley Wallace of New York in the final round of their scheduled 10-round televised fight at Civic Auditorium tonight. Charles knocked Wallace down twice for nine counts before Referee Frankie Brown stopped the fight in 2:43 of the 10th.

Charles weighed 190 and Wallace 201.

The lean Cincinnati Negro, who won the world title in 1949 and lost to Jersey Joe Walcott in 1951, gave his younger rival a thorough beating before walloping him out of action.

Wallace went down for a nine-count in the eighth and was down for the second time in the 10th when the referee halted the bout.

Except for the second round, which appeared fairly even, Charles was the clear master.

Charles, 32, had his 25-year-old opponent groggy with stiff rights to the jaw just before the bell ending the fourth round. Another right in the sixth round stopped Wallace in his tracks.

Wallace not only had age and weight in his favor, but his 6 feet 2 inches plus gave him a height and reach advantage over Charles. Experience paid off, however, as Charles methodically chopped him down to size.

Wallace was all in and ready to be taken when Charles dropped him for a nine count in the last round. Wallace got up, back-peddled some, but was unable adequately to defend himself.

The ex-champ belted him on the whiskers again, Wallace went to the canvas and the bout was stopped.

The fireworks started in the eighth, when Ezzard connected with a tremendous blow to the chin that sent Wallace down. Coley took the last four of nine counts on one knee. After Wallace got up, he caught Charles coming in with a hard right that slowed down the ex-title holder and prevented further mayhem.

On the Associated Press card, Charles was leading 53½-45½ at the end.

Gray, Mauro Say They're Quitting Game

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Dec. 16.—Pitcher John Gray, sent to the Philadelphia Athletics today by the New York Yankees, said tonight that "unless something unforeseen comes up, I won't be playing baseball next season."

Gray, 26, explained that he is a married man and it takes a lot of money to keep his family with him during the season.

"Unless a man is an established star, he can't afford to have his family with him," Gray added.

"If I could find a good job here in my home town, I'd prefer to stay here and play baseball."

"I got a couple of raw deals while I was with the Yankee farm clubs and I'm not too interested in playing minor-league ball," he said.

Outfielder Carmen Mauro said he was quitting baseball upon learning that the Philadelphia Athletics had traded him to the Kansas City Blues in the deal with the New York Yankees.

"I just got married and thought I was on the way," said the speedy 27-year-old outfielder who has played with Washington, Chicago Cubs, Brooklyn and A's.

"Now they are sending me back to the minors. I'm through with baseball. I'm quitting."

"This is strictly a Yankee deal," Mauro continued. "I'm a little guy, and the Yankees like big men. How can I move up from their Kansas City farm and win a position in an outfield that includes Mickey Mantle, Hank Bauer and Gene Woodling?"

Looking back on his major-league career, Mauro said:

"They ship you around like slaves. You can never settle down. One day you're in Brooklyn, the next in Washington... and so it goes."

GEORGIA SUPPORTERS FROM '98 TO '53 TURN OUT FOR BOOSTER RALLY

GEORGIA GREATS CONGREGATE — University of Georgia football backers held their biggest rally in the institution's history here last night. In the right, quarterback Jimmy Harper, a member of the '53 team and youngest player present, lights a cigar for Charlie Black, a fullback on the 1898 edition.

Bulldogs Sound Cry: 'We're Coming Back!'

Old Bulldog Greats, Fans Hail Butts at Huge Rally

By JESSE OUTLAR

A stranger stopping at the Biltmore Hotel last night might have thought that the University of Georgia was giving its greatest football team a bowl sendoff.

He would have been stunned to learn that Georgia had experienced the worst season in its football history.

The occasion was the biggest Georgia booster rally ever held. It was attended by some 500 enthusiastic supporters, who had come to Atlanta to let Coach Wallace Butts know that they are still solidly behind him, win, lose or draw.

In fact, Butts, who had steered Georgia to seven bowl games, received the greatest ovation of his long and successful career. When he was presented by Toastmaster Abit Nix, the crowd stood and raised the roof of Exhibition Hall.

Purpose of the meeting was explained by a huge sign, posted behind the speaker's platform. It read: "WE'RE COMING BACK!"

Charlie Bloch, prominent Macon attorney, was the principal speaker. He called Butts the "greatest football coach in America; recalled Georgia's brightest days in the football sun, and predicted that Butts again would lead Georgia to national prominence.

The registration list read like a Who's Who of Georgia football. In a quick glance across the banquet room, you spotted fellows such as Charlie Trippi, Tom Nash, Frankie Sinkwich, Joe Tereshinski, Spud Chandler, Quinton Lumpkin, Cliff Kimsley, Joe Geri, Claude Hipps and many others.

Sinkwich, Trippi, Tereshinski, Heyward Allen and Porter Payne, all former captains, paid tribute to Butts. Trippi, a veteran of 16 seasons in football, including seven as a pro, hailed Butts as the "greatest coach he has ever known." The others echoed the same sentiments.

Butts, choked with emotion, thanked the alumni and his former stars and told them that their job was to sell the University of Georgia.

"I don't mean football alone," Butts said. "Football should never rank number one in any University."

Over fifty Georgia players, now coaching in the state, attended.

Alumni came from all parts of the country. Maj. Clyde Ehrhardt, a center on the Rose Bowl team, had just returned from Korea. Billy Mixon, who played with the San Francisco 49ers, winged in from the coast; Tereshinski from Washington and Trippi from Chicago.

The Bulldog backers did much more than talk. They organized Booster Clubs in every corner of the state.

Publicity Director Dan Magill summed it up: "We disarmed after the war, now we're rearming."

BANQUET HITS: Charlie Black, fullback on the 1898 Georgia team, was the oldest Bulldog in the gathering. Jimmy Harper, who'll be the first-string quarterback next season, was the youngest. Abit Nix, who kept the program moving at a fast tempo, refused to let his son-in-law attend. The reason: he's a Tech man. . . . Frankie Sinkwich drew a chuckle from the audience when he said: "What character I've got, Coach Butts built." . . . For once, Butts really needed a crying howl. He was overcome with emotion while listening to the many compliments paid him by his former players. . . .

Chancellor Harman Caldwell, Dr. O. C. Aderhold, University president; Bob Arnold, chairman of the Board of Regents; Roy Harris and Rutherford Ellis, Regent members, were included on the long list of dignitaries. . . .

Hugh Hodgson, head of the University music department, furnished music for the event, and Joe McKee of Atlanta made a big hit with vocal renditions.

Bob McWhorter of Athens and George (Kid) Woodruff of Columbus were unable to attend, but sent telegrams, as did several other prominent alumni. . . . Jim Bentley, secretary to Gov. Tammage, made a brief talk on behalf of the governor, who was out of the state.

Georgia Fired Up on TV, Too

University of Georgia alumni and football players gave notice last night that Georgia is "coming back."

Speaking on WSB-TV's Press Gallery, alumnus Harold Walker said the alumni has pledged themselves to sell the University of Georgia. "We are definitely not on a buying program but a selling program. There will be no under-the-table money passed out," he said.

Quarterback Jimmy Harper, who is expected to fill the shoes of Georgia's Zeke Bratkowski, predicted better things for the future. He reminded the television audience that a number of sophomores and freshmen received valuable experience this year and would be hard to stop next year.

Other members of the panel who joined Walker and Harper in paying tribute to coach Wallace Butts during the program were Dan McGill, athletic publicity director, and Porter Payne, former all-Southeastern tackle at Georgia. Furman Bisher, sports editor of The Constitution, was moderator.

Potsy Clark Quits Nebraska; Groza Named Top Pro Star

Alabama Lands Prize Center; Pension Meeting 'Satisfactory'

George (Potsy) Clark quit last night as athletic director at the University of Nebraska "at the pleasure" of the college's athletic board.

Clark has been under fire for Nebraska's failure to field consistent football winners since World War II.

Clark made it plain he was quitting his $8,500-a-year post, and equally clear that he wasn't wanted.

He coached at Nebraska, Kansas; Michigan State, Minnesota and Butler in college and at Detroit and Brooklyn in pro football before taking over as athletic director at Nebraska.

Sports in Brief

Lou (The Toe) Groza, Cleveland Browns tackle and place-kicking star, was named Pro Football Player of the Year by the Washington Touchdown Club.

Notre Dame, the nation's No. 2 football power, presented Maryland with the Rev. J. Hugh O'Donnell Memorial Trophy, signifying national supremacy. But Irish assistant coach Bill Earley warned the Terps that Notre Dame would try to win its own trophy back next year. Maryland succeeds Michigan State as trophy winner.

North Coaches Stu Holcomb of Purdue, Ivy Williamson of Wisconsin and Bill Meek of Kansas State will be in Miami today to start practices for the North-South all-star game on Christmas night. Georgia's Wallace Butts, a South aide, will arrive Sunday.

Salem (W. Va.) College, which hasn't won a football game in three years, got a new coach. Major Paul E. West of Fishburne Military School, Waynesboro, Va., succeeds Charles Bummage.

Alabama landed a prize football center when Glen Graham, former Florence State Teachers College player, signed a grant-in-aid. Graham has been in the Marines the past three years. He was named Most Valuable Player at Camp Lejeune this year.

Fullback Lamar McHan of Arkansas was named winner of the Southwest Conference Football Sportsmanship Award. The award is presented by the Fort Worth Kiwanis Club.

A big majority of the men who have to watch "live" football every Saturday—the sports writers and broadcasters—favor controlled TV of college football and think the NCAA control program is here to stay. Nearly 300 writers and broadcasters indicated by a more than 4-to-1 vote that they approved controls.

General Manager Hank Greenberg of the Cleveland Indians reported a "satisfactory" meeting of player representatives with the major league pension plan committee was held at Cleveland Monday and another meeting is set for January.

ALL-AMERICA INDIAN

Auburn's Locklear Makes Coaches Grin

The fact that Cherokee Jack Locklear, a part Indian, stepped onto Auburn's reservation three years ago without even a scholarship is not altogether amazing. College football every so often produces a star who started unnoticed.

But few become all-America. So when the Plainsmen see their high-cheeked junior linebacker as sure-fire for '54, it does border on the sensational. And so does Locklear.

The Locklear of today bears little resemblance to the Locklear of '51. He checked into the Lovell Little Village weighing only 175. He had played only fullback at little Fort Payne, Ala., High, and what he didn't know about football would have filled the API library.

Now he scales 210, is pushing the Southeastern Conference's best offensive center—Ed Baker—for his job, and rates line coach Hal Herring's tag as "the best pass-defending linebacker I've ever seen."

Locklear will not start in the Gator Bowl against tough Texas Tech. Baker will, because the alternate captain has the edge in know-how. But Coach Shug Jordan is counting upon Locklear starting his stab for all-star recognition in Jacksonville.

"He definitely is all-America material," Jordan said at the close of yesterday's light practice. "He was only so-so offensively until the middle of this year. But he caught on then, and now he's terrific both ways."

Jordan speaks as an old center. Herring was one, too, and the ex-Cleveland Browns linebacker says flatly that Locklear will be the No. 1 all-around center in the Southeastern Conference next year. And Herring has heard of Tech's Larry Morris.

Locklear's progress blended with a sharp drill to keep Jordan in high humor yesterday. "We're in good shape," said Jordan. "We'll be scrimmaging again by the end of the week and I think we'll be fine for New Year's Day."

MOUNTAINEER MARATHON

Pappy Lewis Agrees With Dodd ---Georgia Tech Will Lose Jan. 1

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 16 (UP)—You'd think Coach Art Lewis was getting his West Virginia football squad ready to compete in the Boston Marathon instead of the Sugar Bowl game against Georgia Tech.

For more than a week all the Mountaineers have been doing is running. Blocking, tackling, kicking—they're just a memory. But there's more running than you'd see at the Penn Relays.

Lewis has a reason for this departure from regular workouts. He knows that West Virginia has perhaps the biggest college squad in the nation—27 pounds bigger than the Chicago Bears—but he thinks it will take speed plus the weight to stop tricky Georgia Tech.

Even so, he is more optimistic than Tech Coach Bobby Dodd. Dodd publicly has proclaimed that the Engineers probably will lose. Lewis, in turn, agrees with him.

"I think we'll win simply because our boys like to play football," he said. "We've got tremendous enthusiasm."

That enthusiasm has been engendered all over the campus as the Mountaineers go into their first major bowl game in 61 years of football competition.

Sugar Bowl fever has been contagious, spreading from the rabid campus followers to the old grads who haven't seen the Mountaineers play for years. There will be a mass exodus southward as New Year's Day approaches. They'll go by special planes, trains, buses, and autos. There even will be a river steamer excursion down the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers to New Orleans.

They're going with Mountaineer whoops and old-time muzzle-loaded squirrel guns tooted by students dressed in hillbilly garb. The squirrel gun goes off whenever a game is going in West Virginia's favor. Sometimes, as in West Virginia's 61-0 rout of North Carolina State, it sounds as if the Civil War had started all over again.

West Virginia will go into the game about a two-touchdown underdog which suits Lewis just fine. He thinks it will give the boys just the psychological edge they need. And he isn't tacking up any notices along those lines in the Mountaineer dressing room.

"They can read the papers, too," said Lewis, the burly ex-Giant professional star.

There will be a side feud in progress during the game, although an entirely friendly one. It involves West Virginia backfield coach Ed Shockey and Tech Coach Dodd. Shockey used to be high school coach at Kingsport, Tenn., and while there, because Dodd was a close friend, he sent him his top talent. At one time five former Shockey players were Tech regulars. But that era of good will is past and Dodd gets no more help from Shockey. Instead Shockey will be trying to beat the brains out of Dodd's boys.

West Virginia which whizzed through a nine-game schedule, being defeated only by South Carolina, was criticized by Southern sports writers who charged the Mountaineers with getting by on a soft schedule. That has given Lewis and his players a slow burn and they're trying to advance the idea that after New Year's Day it still may look as if it were a soft schedule—with Georgia Tech among the soft touches.

Fullback Now Tech Problem

Bobby Dodd gave up worrying about left halfback yesterday and began concentrating on fullback.

The Georgia Tech football coach does not believe that injured ace Leon Hardeman will be any help against West Virginia in the Sugar Bowl. So he has simply assigned the job to Charlie Brannon, barring a medical miracle on Mr. Muggs' bad knee.

Now Dodd's No. 1 headache is what to do about fullback when 195-pound linebuster Glenn Turner is not in the game.

"We're going with Johnny Hunsinger," he said, "but he's not very big—175—to be banging around those Mountaineers. What we'd really like to do is experiment a little with sophomore Mot Morrison and freshman Dickie Mattison. But I don't believe we can afford to on January first."

Dodd can back that argument with statistics. Turner racked a net gain of 370 yards this year. Hunsinger knocked off 165 yards, mostly against Georgia. But behind them Mattison and Morrison have contributed only 18 and two yards to the attack.

Dodd's observations were made from his Rose Bowl watchtower above third and fourth-stringers scrimmaging against Bees.

He clouted 16 homers and drove in 93 runs.

Both Bollweg, a 31-year-old lefthanded hitter, and Renna, a 27-year-old righthanded batter, were only part time players with the Yanks. Bollweg hit .297 in 155 times at bat while Renna had a .314 average in 121 trips to the plate.

Babe, 25, lefthanded hitter, batted .230 in 108 games, two homers, 26 runs batted in.

Hamilton, 27, lefthanded hitter, batted .196 in 58 games.

Mauro, 27, lefthanded hitter, played 81 games with Washington and Philadelphia, batted .255, 19 runs batted in.

Robertson, 25, lefthanded hitter, batted .278 for Kansas City and .264 for Syracuse.

Gray, 26, righthanded pitcher, had a 9-7 record for Kansas City, with 4.15 earned run average.

Finigan, 25, righthanded hitter, batted .303 in Eastern League, 13 homers and 80 runs batted in.

Asked if he thought he was inviting censure by letting go of Power, Weiss said:

"I don't see why a colored player should be separated from a white. I think you'd be weak if you're afraid to invite censure. He's a fellow who never played major league ball. We're strong at his positions—first base and the outfield. We strengthened ourselves."

New Zealander Visiting East Point Radio 'Ham'

By KATHERINE BARNWELL
A New Zealand "ham" radio operator who has been communicating with Georgia "hams" for many years is visiting an East Point couple for whom he played Cupid during World War II.
R. J. Coakley of Lower Hutt, New Zealand, began talking with James Fields of East Point by radio several years before the war.
When Fields was in the Navy in 1942, he went to see Coakley in New Zealand—and the New Zealander introduced him to Betty Kennedy, the girl he later married there with Coakley as best man.
Now Mr. and Mrs. Coakley are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Fields and their two little girls at their home, 212 N. Kimmeridge Dr., East Point.
Coakley said he has communicated with amateur radio operators in 122 countries—including Herbert Armistead and George Gammell of Atlanta. He toured Europe before coming to the United States and had reunions with many of them.
"They were pleasant without exception," he said. "Although you talk with people regularly for years, you have no conception of how they look until you meet them. It is an interesting experience."
Coakley retired last spring after 42 years of service with the New Zealand government. For the seven years before his retirement, he was principal of the government's radio division.
The New Zealander began his current tour by attending the coronation of Elizabeth—and he happily recalled he was invited to "the Queen's garden party July 16."
This is his first visit to Georgia. He has been impressed here, he said, "by the roominess—and the central heating."
Coakley addressed the Atlanta Confederate of Signals and the Atlanta Old Timers Club (an organization of old-time radio amateurs), and he has several other talks scheduled before he leaves Georgia next March.
Amateur radio operators learn a lot about foreign countries, their people and customs, Coakley summed up. Although most of the "foreigners" with whom Coakley has talked speak "pidgin English," there is an amateur international code that enables any of them to communicate.

MARY LEE

SOME PEOPLE seem to be born with silver spoons in their mouths, but in the case of Mary Lee Taylor, it must have been a measuring spoon. Many a housewife throughout the country will gladly swear on a stack of cookbooks that Mary Lee is tops in her line—and has been for the past twenty years. That's how long she's been airing the MARY LEE TAYLOR SHOW which you hear on WSB Radio, Saturday mornings at 10:30.

And she got into the job entirely by accident—a friend in an advertising agency suddenly remembered that her old friend, Susan Lovett, used to like dramatics in their school days. So she called Susan (now Mrs. Herbert Cost) and asked her to audition a new show the advertising agency was putting on the air. Mrs. Cost had never had any radio experience—or business experience of any kind—but she tried out for the fun of it, and her warm voice and personality won her the job which she's kept for 20 years. Pretty big activity, too—she gets an average of 500,000 letters a year from devoted listeners.

SPANISH CONQUISTADORES figure in the Roy Rogers Show this evening at 8:00 on WSB Radio. A jeweled saddle which once belonged to one of the conquerors is stolen and Roy and Dale start searching for it in an abandoned Indian Pueblo. They got lost in the maze of cliff dwellings and only Roy's knowledge of Indian lore enabled them to escape. He finds a trail out—and also a trail to the thieves.

THE RAILROAD HOUR has been on the air now for more than five years and it still has one of the top ratings for popularity in the nation—all because of a very simple belief on the part of the sponsors. They are convinced that the American people do not waver in their loyalties to good music—they will listen to their favorite operettas over and over again—and that's what the Railroad Hour gives them. Gordon MacRae, of course, is the permanent star of the show and he always has some glamorous and gifted gai to play opposite him. It's one of the wonderful rosters of fine musical productions you enjoy on the Voice of the South every Monday night.

ENGINEER GONE WRONG? When Willard engineer and started studying engineering at Waterman was growing up, he decided to be an engineer. But he had already dabbled in radio and dramatics and the bug kept biting, so he finally tossed over the mechanical career—and millions of Americans got a break they would have hated to miss. Because Willard nowadays is that hilarious fast character, THROCKMORTON P. GILDER-SLEEVE who brightens every Wednesday night on WSB Radio and the NBC network. He lives in California and has a wife and two daughters—and since he's tall and weighs 225 pounds, he looks the part so much that most of his friends call him Gildy.

2,000 Posters Urge Safety For Holidays

Atlanta Jaycees today will distribute some 2,000 safety posters in large office buildings, department stores and other locations to make the public more safety conscious during the holiday season.

George G. Martin, chairman of the Junior Chamber of Commerce safety committee, said crowded traffic conditions will make highways and streets more dangerous at the Christmas season. He said the Jaycees are "particularly anxious to get this safety reminder across to pedestrians since about seven out of eight persons injured in traffic accidents are non-drivers."

Frederick B. Schultz, Jaycee vice president, joined Martin in pointing out that if the one-day poster campaign—"Operation Hang-up"—will save just one Atlanta from injury or death, it will be a success.

Holiday Decor in Spotlight

There's no place like home at Christmas time and military families at Fort McPherson are entering into a Yule Home Decorating contest during the holiday season to prove it.

According to Ft. McPherson Post Commander, Lt. Col. W. H. McNaul, the contest is open until Dec. 22 as an inspiration to Fort McPherson residents to make their home exteriors and the post as beautiful as possible for the holiday season.

In the true spirit of Christmas, members of nearly every family on the post including the children are busy decorating outdoor trees and designing door wreaths, Nativity scenes, Santa Claus tableaux and other original settings.

Sponsored by the Post Special Services Section, the contest will be climaxed with the awards of cash gifts to the three winners. Capt. R. G. McNamara, Special Services Officer, says that homes will be judged on originality and simplicity.

MARY HAWORTH

Selfish Husband Grips Purse Strings, Says Wife

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My husband thinks my attitude is entirely wrong toward a situation that has existed since we married 10 years ago. The problem is that I never have enough money in my purse to cover my needs.

My husband pays the rent, food and doctor bills, and gives me 10 dollars a week, for clothes for our school-age son and myself. From this money I also buy linens or curtains the house requires. It just isn't enough to take care of a growing boy's needs, the clothes and extras that come up, unexpectedly, and leave something over for me.

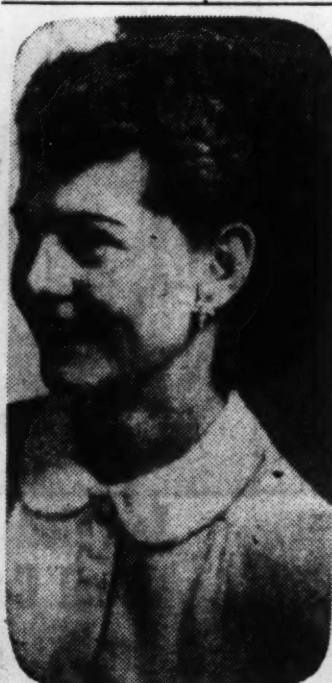

George makes several thousand dollars a year, not much compared to some folks' income; but it is certainly ample for a small family such as ours. I tell him 'he doesn't share fairly; telling him he is selfish and stingy. Am I wrong? U. J.

DEAR U. J.: It is conceivable that $320 a year might suffice, if intelligently disbursed, to clothe a mother and school-age son, and leave something over for miscellaneous items. Much would depend upon the standard of living of the principals, upon the worth of a dollar in the community, and upon the ingenuity and creative enthusiasm of the woman handling the modest allowance.

However, I am not siding with George in this dispute. I feel he is being unfair with you, unfair in the sense that he holds the purse strings, and refuses to budge from the hand-out figure he fixes. He should look into the matter of your needs and expenditures, to learn the price of things, and to evaluate the logic of your arguments; and then try his best to meet you at least halfway, in a mutually acceptable compromise.

The standing quarrel over money is not the basic problem; it is symbolic of something fundamentally wrong in George's attitude towards man-woman relationship. He feels a necessity to keep the upper hand, to reduce the woman to the status of servant. Are you qualified to do salaried work? And could you hold an outside job without neglecting your family? If so, this may afford a partial solution of the financial dispute. Obviously George is a selfish fellow, who resents taxes on his resources. M. H.

MISS LORRAINE RAKESTRAW

Miss Rakestraw will become the bride of Curtis Lee Crysel of Montgomery on Saturday, Dec. 19, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Rakestraw of Hiram. The couple will reside in Montgomery where Mr. Crysel is associated with Atlanta and West Point Railroad.

Skirt Fit Tells Time To Reduce

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Women who take pride in looking well in their clothes watch the fit of the skirt as much as they watch the pointer on the scales. When the skirt band feels a mite tight, and the skirt pulls across the abdomen, slimming measures are promptly taken.

Refusing to give the waist an inch is the surest way to prevent the middle spread, at any age. While the skirt widens first, the abdominal extension girth runs a close second, and sometimes spreads faster than the waist.

To see what goes on, encircle the waist with forefingers and thumbs . . . forefingers almost touching in front, and the remaining fingers widely separated, fanning out to span the front-sides of the abdomen. That is where the spread threatens.

STREAMLINING

To work streamlining miracles, restore bracing tone to the oblique muscles. Because of their curved position around the side-front of the abdomen, tone in these muscles tends to flatten the middle measurement.

There is one exercise which can make bad figures worse—the well-known exercise of raising and lowering the legs from the position of lying flat on back.

Here are two easy, safe conditioners which restore tone to the girdle muscles.

Position: Lying on back on floor, knees bent, soles of feet flat on floor. This is a safety position that prevents strain. To pull the shoulders into proper line, have arms out at sides on floor at shoulder level, elbows bent, forearms back on floor, L shape.

GOOD EXERCISE

Action: Contract strongly with the abdominal muscles, pulling snugly up and in, and pressing small of back against floor. Then lift hips just slightly off floor and stretch arms back on floor beyond head, holding the up-and-in-pull. Lower hips to floor, pull forcibly up and in again, raise hips. Repeat 6 to 12 times—gradually increasing the holding time. Never arc the small of the back.

The side-front muscles are brought vigorously into action with the following exercise:

Position: Lying on back on floor, knees bent, feet separated, soles of feet on floor, arms down at sides.

Action: Lift hips an inch or two off floor, and tilt hips toward one side as you pull strongly inward with the side-front muscles. Back to center, swing hips vigorously toward other side, again pulling in strongly with oblique muscles. Keep shoulders on floor and swing to alternate sides 10 to 20 times.

Over the Coffee

I have read that the Eisenhowers are coming to Augusta for Christmas. That should make sand trap widows stop their nagging about being neglected. Suppose they were married to a man who played golf and was President besides.—MRS. ATLANTA.

Church Auxiliary To Hold Tea

Members of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Episcopal Church of the Epiphany will give a silver tea Sunday at the home of their president, Mrs. Frank Wooten, at 1161 Ponce de Leon Ave., corner of Moreland Avenue.

Mrs. Wooten has also invited many of her friends to call between four and seven o'clock.

Morgans Combine Old, New

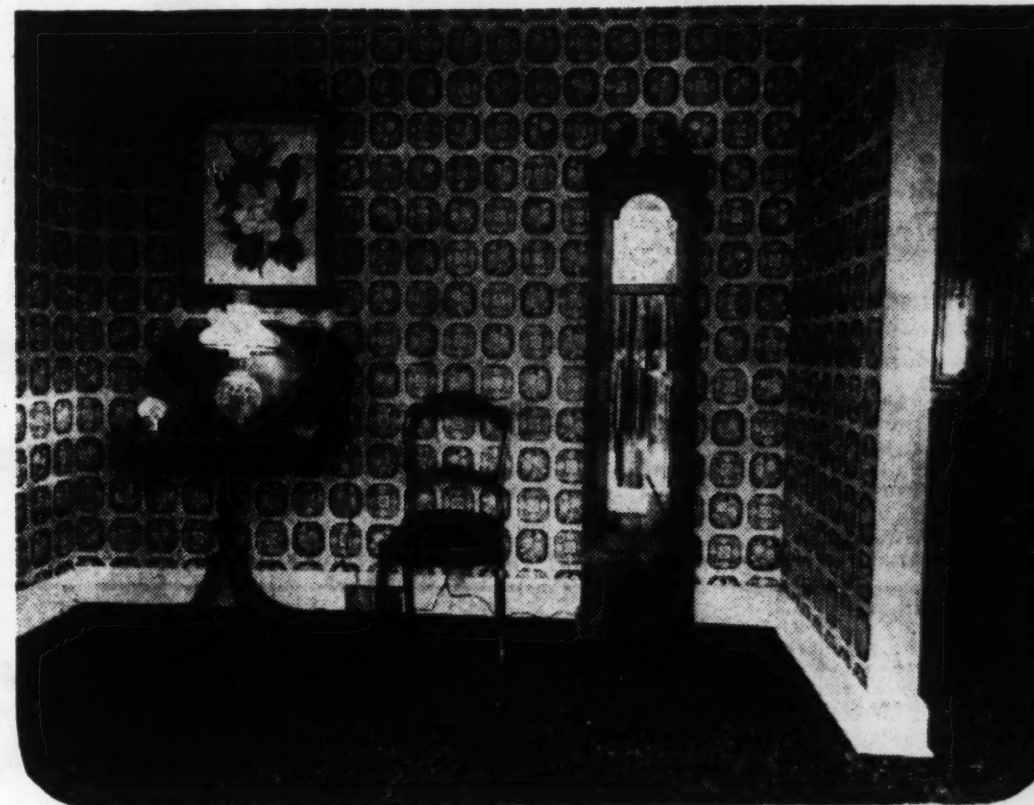

By DOTTY LUNDY

Mrs. Dewey Morgan dared to be different with her new home and liked it! During World War II when she and her husband found themselves in cramped quarters, "she went wild" on paper and when building restrictions lightened her plans took shape in crab orchard stone and brick.

She wanted long sweeping ranch lines outside but she liked the ornate carvings, bold florals and heavy fabrics of the gas-lit era. The result was a ranch-type home at 1151 Flamingo Dr., SW, with a Victorian interior.

Ranch also meant glass to the Morgans who included four picture windows in the house. A pink marble top table with ivy bowl underneath guards the front window. Another glass wall stretches across the back overlooking a patch of Audubon Forest. Wall-to-wall carpeting is cherry, setting off gray walls.

Victorian Mr. and Mrs. chairs, hook rug, even a chartreuse fringe sofa are reminiscent of bustle and buggy days. Over the classic Greek mantel is a 1820 Sevres clock from France with matching urns of china and bronze d'ore. Pictures over the sofa, examples of French "Valentine" art, are framed in heavy gilt. The oval glass top coffee table was intricately hand carved of walnut.

For the dining room Mrs. Morgan chose Chippendale chairs with Victorian breakfront and credenza. Faillie draperies were hand blocked framing another picture window. The guest room features a mahogany Victorian suite with canopied bed.

But Mrs. Morgan went all modern in her yellow kitchen. In the utility area, besides washer, dryer and ironer she has a built-in "hot-box" to dry damp towels and wash cloths.

The pine-paneled den has another glass section overlooking terrace and the deep woody lot.

DAILY GUIDE—This is a time when we are thinking of giving, but today is an especially good day for one to consider what to give or do for others who are in need, not just of material things, but possibly of encouragement and faith. There is an accent on the needs of the underprivileged, on idealism and beautiful dreams. The fancies of the Christmas season can be played up today.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, SAGITTARIUS!—You will become more and more concerned with people and places at a distance, and these affairs should work out smoothly for you and to your advantage. Partnership matters are important during the next few months. Those eligible could marry, while those already married must expect to have to cooperate and possibly give up to the wishes or demands of the better-half.

$25,000 Prize Cake
Features Chopped Nuts

"My Inspiration Cake" won $25,000 and the "Cook of the Year" title for Mrs. Bernard Kanago, Webster, S.D., in the finals of a national baking contest held this week in New York.

Following is the recipe for this prize-winning cake:

"MY INSPIRATION CAKE"

1 cup finely chopped nuts
2 ounces sweet or semi-sweet chocolate
2 1/2 cups sifted flour
4 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups sugar
1/2 cup shortening
1 1/2 cups milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup egg whites (4 large or 5 medium), unbeaten

1. Place nuts evenly over bottoms of two well-greased and lightly floured nine-inch round layer pans. 2. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar into mixing bowl. Add shortening, milk and vanilla. 3. Beat for 1 1/2 minutes, 150 strokes per minute, until batter is well blended. (With electric mixer, blend at low speed, then beat at medium speed for 1 1/2 minutes. 4. Add egg whites. Beat for 1 1/2 minutes.

5. Spoon one-fourth of batter carefully into each nut-lined pan, using about half of the batter. Sprinkle with the grated chocolate (half in each pan). Spoon remaining batter into pans, spreading carefully so chocolate is not disturbed.

6. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 35 to 40 minutes. Let cool in pans 10 to 15 minutes before turning out. Cool thoroughly and frost layers, not side up, with chocolate frosting.

Spread frosting between and on sides of layers, but frost only 1/4 inch around top edge of cake and about one inch in center. Decorate chocolate frosting with reserved 1-3 cup white frosting, thinning with water a teaspoon at a time as necessary.

CHOCOLATE FROSTING

2 squares (2 oz.) baking chocolate

1/2 cup granulated sugar

1/2 cup water

4 egg yolks

1/2 cup butter or margarine

1 teaspoon vanilla

2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar

1. Combine chocolate, granulated sugar and water in saucepan. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until chocolate melts and mixture is smooth. 2. Remove from heat. Add egg yolks; beat thoroughly. Cool. 3. Cream butter and vanilla. Blend in confectioners' sugar gradually, creaming well. Reserve 1/2 cup of this frosting to decorate cake. 4. Add the cool chocolate to remaining white frosting. Beat until smooth.

Monologues And Pure Fun

Elizabeth Reed, an old friend from Florida days, who now heads the information service for the Florida State Board of Health, was in town attending some kind of conference on mental health and we all went out to dinner.

One of the ways Elizabeth insures her own mental health is indulging her fine, gusty sense of humor in poking fun at the human race. She is a celebrated monologist in Florida and has recently done a series of television shows in Jacksonville and New York. She could, if she chose, make a career of her dramatic talents but she feels that campaigning against book worms and for more sanitary trailer camp facilities in Florida's population on wheels is more important as a life work.

So she just monologues for fun—and occasionally to put over a lesson in public health.

"I go to meetings and they ask me to do monologues," Elizabeth said, "and I'm always glad to. But I won't make 'em laugh unless they hear my public health speech first. Sometimes it's hookworm, sometimes midwives."

The evening I spent with her it was monologues and pure fun. She has many famous ones and she ran through a few of them for me while we ate shrimp with our fingers and lingered over our coffee. The one which brought whoops of delight from me was one called "The New President of Our (pronounced 'owver') PTA."

You know the shy little woman who professes to be quaking with confusion and humility but who really wades in and runs the organization with a hand of iron and a sledge hammer in it instead of a gavel. Elizabeth had her down pat, replete with financial report, veiled references to "the previous administration" and shy protestations that she really had "no inkle" that she was about to be so signally honored.

She had done the new president up brown, up to and including her inaugural address, and I was still giggling when a member of the group said innocently, "Don't you have one about a female columnist doing a Mother's Day column?"

Then it all came back to me. Seven years ago, the last time I saw Elizabeth, I was visiting in Pensacola and struggling to write a Mother's Day column when she came to call. The children were smaller and bedlam reigned while I crouched over the typewriter trying to spell out a tender message about the joys of motherhood. I might have known it was grief for Elizabeth's mill—and she admitted that it was.

For seven years now one of her funniest monologues has been that one depicting the frayed, harassed, "lady columnist" pecking out poetic phrases while screaming hideously at her offspring to get out of her sight and hearing.

She did me and I writhed and winced. The words which I thought were so freshly coined and utterly inspired when I plunked them down, one at a time, showed up for what they were—worn old, corny old clichés. And although I would have sworn that I never raised my voice in addressing my little ones, there it was—strident, shrill and ill-tempered.

"Go make yourself a sandwich," the lady columnist directed, fingers hovering over an imaginary keyboard. "Well, peanut butter, of course! We haven't got any peanut butter. Well, don't ask me—I DON'T KNOW WHY WE HAVEN'T GOT ANY PEANUT BUTTER!"

There was more of it and the others in the group howled and applauded. But come to think of it, I don't know if it was so terribly funny. I think you can go too far with those things. In fact, I'm just as glad that Elizabeth isn't going into television. Campaigning about hookworms and clean trailer camps is a much nicer career than making fun of one's old friends.

GI Surprise Clothes Gift Boosts Church Collection

By JEAN ROONEY

A surprise gift of 800 pounds of warm khaki garments boosted local churchwomen's clothing collection for war refugees over the world to almost 7,000 pounds, drive officials announced yesterday.

A truckload of winter "olive drab" contributed by Ft. Benning GI's arrived at the church women's collection headquarters in Atlanta this week, as the drive's deadline approached.

Warm khaki pants, shirts, underwear, mittens and jackets no longer usable to the servicemen were included in the truckload.

Mrs. W. C. Drummond, drive chairman reported.

The drive's sponsors, the United Church Women of Atlanta, packed the Army clothes in with thousands of pounds of "Civilian" garments and household linens contributed by Atlantans through their churches.

Today, the gift packages begin the first lap of their trip to refugee camps in Korea, free China, Palestine, East Germany and other war-ravaged countries.

From Church World Service offices in New Windsor, Md., they will be shipped by U.S. transports over the world, Mrs. Drummond explained.

Protestant churches over the nation are participating in the drive, she reported.

Including in the Atlanta shipment were 150 new double blankets, purchased from cash gifts of the church women.

Drop in Tax Collections Clouds City Fiscal Scene

By HERMAN HANCOCK

Mayor Hartsfield and administration leaders yesterday warned that a shrinkage in tax collections may mean fiscal difficulties for the city next year.

Comptroller Earl Landers released figures showing that so far this year the city has collected $15,827,655.24 from real and personal property and in sanitary taxes. The figure is $314,041.24 more than was anticipated from that source when the January budget was prepared.

He cited, however, that 1952 collections amounting to $18,418,000 from the same sources which exceeded January, 1952, estimates by $1,478,000.

NOT PAID

At the same time, Landers said $1,371,260 in 1953 taxes has not been paid this year compared to $599,057 which went to the city last year.

When 1953 began, the city had a cash carryover of $2,215,600 from 1952 to help finance the government until 1953 taxes began to roll in last July, but Hartsfield, Landers and Finance Committee Chairman Ralph Huie are concerned about the carry-over for 1953 and unless unpaid taxes come in before the end of the year, the 1953 carry-over will fall substantially short of the 1952 carry-over.

"We expect to enter the new year with a reduced carry-over because of the decline in tax collections," Hartsfield said. "Other revenue sources also are showing a tendency to level off or to fail to meet expectations."

WANT MORE

"Virtually every department of the government is asking for more funds for 1954 to meet new demands for services. There are requests for salary increases and adjustments. I do not see how we can grant the requests and stay solvent. It appears we may be heading into a sort of recession in our operations and we may be forced to cut expenses to absorb shrinkages. I hope the picture changes before the new year begins, but things do not look encouraging now."

MURDER SUSPECT—HARTFORD, Conn., Dec. 16—A calm, unshaven Robert N. Malm, 30, lights up a cigarette before arraignment in police court where he was later bound over to Superior Court without bond. Police say he confessed the strangulation of 11-year-old Irene Fiederowicz.

Benson, Solon Disagree on Farm Plan

CHICAGO, Dec. 16 (AP)—Delegates to a convention of the American Farm Bureau Federation today heard Secretary of Agriculture Benson and a Democratic senator criticize and defend present high level price support programs.

Benson, who is drafting GOP farm program proposals for presentation to Congress, told the bureau's 35th annual convention that high government price floors and other "well-meaning" farm laws passed by preceding Democratic administrations had not prevented a dip in agricultural prosperity.

But Sen. Eastland, Mississippi Democrat and a leader of a strong cotton group in Congress, told the convention that farmers need both high production and high price supports if hard times are to be averted for the nation's producers.

Benson and Eastland outlined these conflicting viewpoints in speeches as a resolution's committee completed work on a proposed bureau farm policy statement. This statement recommends that present programs for major crops be allowed to expire at the end of 1954 and be replaced with a system of flexible price floors.

The question of which plan should be used in the future is expected to be a major issue in the coming session of Congress. Some farm groups, including the National Farmers' Union and some Southern and Great Plains state farm bureaus, want the present support law extended.

The proposed resolution—to be submitted to the convention for adoption at its final meeting tomorrow—would modify the flexible plan to the extent that its provisions would not go into effect during the first year growers voted marketing controls after a non-control year. During this first year the support would be at the present high level.

Georgia's Maid Named Finalist For Cotton Title

Barbara Brown of Columbus, Georgia's Maid of Cotton, was among 20 finalists named yesterday in the 1954 Maid of Cotton contest at Memphis, Tenn.

Miss Brown, a graduate of Agnes Scott College, became an automatic finalist as the winner of the Georgia contest. The finalists will go to Memphis Jan. 5 for two days of appearances, luncheons and dinner-dances. The winner will be announced Jan. 6 over NBC radio.

Eleven cotton states other than Georgia are represented among the finalists. They include Texas, North Carolina, Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama, Arkansas, California, Louisiana, Missouri, New Mexico and South Carolina.

Capitol View Teacher Hurt

An Atlanta school teacher was injured yesterday in an automobile accident near her school, police said.

Mrs. Christine Malone Street, 23, of 1062 North Highland Ave., NE, a teacher at the Capitol View School, was struck by a truck making a left turn at Stewart and Dill Aves., SW, at 8:35 a.m., police reported. She was treated at Grady Hospital for a head injury, records showed.

The truck driver, James Willie Welch, 30, of 1706 Stewart Ave., SW, was booked on charges of violating pedestrian rights.

'Amahl and Visitors' Is Pleasant Production

By ALEX JOINER JR.
Imagination is still the life blood of creative art and the best example in these parts in a long time was last night's production of "Amahl and the Night Visitors" at the Atlanta Division of the University of Georgia.

The Gian Carlo Menotti Christmas opera—as most of you probably know by now—is the appealing story of Amahl, crippled shepherd son of an impoverished widow whose cottage is visited by the three kings bearing gifts to the Christ Child. Amahl offers his crutch, his only possession, and a miracle enables him to walk without help with the kings to Bethlehem.

It's a deceptively simple singing drama and the music and art departments of the university approached it with the free-wheeling vision that was needed to make the production the pleasant thing it was.

Orchestra and Director Tom Brumby played behind a curtain which lent credibility to the cottage set and its surrounding hills. Chorus and dancers arrived on stage on ramps built up from the pit. The kings entered, in secular style, down the middle aisle.

The set design itself, the interior of a rock and straw hovel with the surrounding hills, was excellent and the work of Harriet Hoard and Gail Benton under the direction of Richard Brunnell and Joseph S. Perrin.

Amahl himself, however, was the real tour de force of the evening. He is 11-year-old Sammy McKinney who was having his first musical experience of any sort and learned the part by rote under Brumby's direction.

Beverly Wolff, the popular Atlanta contralto, sang the mother's part and in doing so proved herself a competent actress as well as a good singer. The kings' parts were sung by Leon Thornton, James Griffith and Kenneth Lancaster (their beards were magnificent) and Cary Walker and Buddy Heist were the dancers.

3 Are Elected To Clarkston Council Posts

A Clarkston contractor, a woman incumbent and a former councilman won seats on the Clarkston City Council last night in an election which drew only 222 votes.

The winners, top vote-getters in a field of five candidates seeking council posts to be vacated Dec. 31, were Candier Morris, 65 votes; Mrs. A. P. Milam, 54 votes, and

J. Dewitt Dooley, 51 votes, according to Mrs. E. L. Morrow, city clerk. 24 votes, were out of the running for the two-year council terms which begin Jan. 1.

39 Pct. of Chest Funds Fights Child Delinquency

Thirty-nine per cent of all funds raised in the recent Community Chest drive will go to 11 character-building agencies—a move that should help combat Greater Atlanta's rising rate of juvenile delinquency, Edward D. Smith, president of Metropolitan Atlanta Community Services, said yesterday.

He said the 11 services will receive $686,627 of the $1,724,055 pledged in this year's campaign by citizens of Fulton and DeKalb Counties.

Allocation of the funds to 36 Red Feather agencies was announced after a meeting of the board of directors. The board unanimously approved budget committee recommendations.

SERVICES LISTED

The 11 character building services are the Atlanta Boys' Club, the Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Jewish Community Center, Girl Scouts, Metropolitan Association for the Colored Blind, the Salvation Army Corps Center, the Butler Street YMCA, the Metropolitan YMCA, the Central YWCA and the Phyllis Wheatley YWCA.

Seven Red Feather services that help individuals and families in trouble will receive $372,153 or 21 per cent of the funds raised, Smith said. They are the Atlanta Legal Aid Society, Family Service Society, Federation for Jewish Social Service, Family and Children's Bureau, Florence Crittenton Home, Goodwill Industries, Salvation Army's Family Bureau and Travelers' Aid Society.

HEALTH WORK

Six Red Feather services that work for a healthier community will receive $147,660 or 8 per cent of Chest funds to fight illness and disease. They are the Morris Hirsch Dental Clinic, Battle Hill Haven, Happy Haven, A. G. Rhodes Home, Atlanta Humane Society and Visiting Nurse Association.

Seven agencies that provide for dependent and neglected children will receive $287,282 or 20 per cent of funds available. They are the Atlanta Child's Home, Carrie Steele Pitts Home, Child Service Association, Gate City Day Nursery Association, Hillside Cottages, Jewish Children's Service and Sheltering Arms.

BETTER JOB

Services that help other agencies to do a better job will get $79,405 or 5 per cent of the Chest funds. These include the Social Service Index, Atlanta Urban League, Federation for Jewish Social Service (Central Services), Catholic Social Services and the Social Services Department of the Atlanta Christian Council.

The United Defense Fund, which includes the USO, conducted a joint drive with the Chest and will receive $102,114 or 6 per cent.

A nine-man nominating committee,

MAKES CHEST REPORT
Edward Smith

tee, headed by Marshal B. Hall, was appointed. Members include Frank Maier, Louis Montag, Julius McCurdy, Edwin Sterne, Henry DeGivie, Abe Feldman, Henry Dorsey and Mills B. Lane. The committee will nominate officers of Metropolitan Atlanta Community Services, 15 board members and 148 members of the delegate assembly.

2 Women Elected to Doraville Commission

Doraville voters yesterday chose a new mayor, and elected two women to the city commission for the first time in the city's 31-year history.

Edgar A. Heibel, an interior decorator and a resident of Doraville for only 10 months, defeated John G. Stewart, mayor for the last 31 years, by a vote of 144 to 137.

Mrs. Kenneth Davis, mother of five, defeated Glenn Rogers by a vote of 155-128 for the commission post vacated by J. F. Munday, who did not seek reelection. Mrs. Fred Wingo, mother of two, defeated J. R. Kinnard, incumbent commissioner, and H. Graddy Smith. Mrs. Wingo polled 113 votes, Kinnard 65 and Smith 102.

None of the newly elected commissioners has held public office before. The mayor and commissioners will take office Jan. 1.

21 Cannon, Fiji Natives Greet Queen

SUVA, Fiji Islands, Dec. 17.—Happy natives in grass skirts paddled their dugout canoes through a peaceful lagoon today and met the royal lady carrying Queen Elizabeth II and the Duke of Edinburgh.

A 21-gun salute boomed from shore batteries on the cliffs above this city as the gleaming white liner Gothic dropped anchor at 8:15 a.m. after a 17-day journey across the South Pacific from Panama.

Fuzzy-haired natives, shouting and singing, thronged the waterfront to welcome their sovereign. The official ceremonies began when Fijian chiefs guided their primitive crafts across the lagoon to give Elizabeth a ceremonial whale's tooth—the most prized gift a Fijian can bestow.

In the welcoming ceremony—called by the natives "Cavukilele," the delegation of chiefs—squadrons of the liner Gothic then moved forward on his knees and presented her with the tooth.

The Queen and the Duke then left the liner by motorboat and cruised slowly to the dock to begin their two-day visit. They set foot on land for the first time since leaving Panama almost three weeks ago.

The baby still is in critical condition at James Whitcomb Riley Memorial Hospital in Indianapolis where it was born.

The father, Cecil Hartley, a 44-year-old ordinance worker, has given the baby two names—Don-

Doctors claim that never before in medical history has such a child lived. They do not believe the child would be able to walk if it survives, but they indicated it is much too early to say anything definitely about the infant's possibilities.

Sex-Related Books Out In Illinois

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Dec. 16.—The Illinois state library has temporarily banned the distribution of all books "relating to sex" in a move to protect teenage readers, it was revealed today.

The order was given last month by Secretary of State Charles Carpenter, who is state librarian. Carpenter was at the side of his ill wife in Florida, but an assistant, Francis Gillen, confirmed the order.

Gillen said a "stop order" was issued on all books of a "salacious, vulgar or obscene character" in units of the library throughout the state. Schools borrow books from the state units for the benefit of student readers.

Gillen said distribution was stopped so that all such books could be "re-evaluated" as to whether they would be harmful to teen-agers or not.

Particularly in question, it was said, were books on sex education for young persons.

Gillen quoted Carpenter as denying the order constituted "censorship" or that the secretary of state was setting himself as an "arbiter of morals."

Carpenter said he simply wanted to determine whether some books should be going into the hands of teen-agers through the facilities of the state library.

Kidnapers Wait Coolly For Death at Midnight

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Dec. 17.—Carl Austin Hall and Bonnie Brown Heady were marking their last day of life today, just 81 days after they kidnaped and killed 6-year-old Bobby Greenlease.

The couple, still apparently impassive, will be executed side by side in the gas chamber of the Missouri State Prison a few minutes after midnight tonight.

They have neither seen nor talked to one another since they were brought here from Kansas City Nov. 20. But they will have a few brief moments together before they die.

That will be when they are taken into a small cell in the gas chamber for their short walk into the lethal gas tank. But they will not be alone. Acting U. S. Marshal William B. Tatum of Kansas City, his wife and two ministers will be with them.

If they say anything then about the missing half of the record $600,000 ransom they collected from Robert C. Greenlease, multimillionaire father of little Bobby, it will be overheard. The missing money is the subject of a federal grand jury investigation in Kansas City now.

Mrs. Tatum will be the only woman to witness the double execution, marking the first time a member of her sex has died in the gas chamber since it was installed in 1938. Mrs. Heady is the first woman to be executed in Missouri since 1834.

Hall, 34-year-old wastrel heir of a Kansas country lawyer, has asked the Rev. George L. Evans, Episcopalian minister at Kansas City, Kan., to be with him "until the very end."

The bidding:

South West North East
1 diamond Pass 3 clubs Pass
3 diamonds Pass 4 diamonds Pass
4 no trump Pass 5 hearts Pass
5 diamonds Pass Pass
It takes more than aces and kings to produce slams. Four aces and four kings can in some remote cases fail to produce even a game.

In today's hand from the team of four event of the Texas State championships in Houston, some players suffered a painful example. The key cards were accounted for, but several contestants failed to give sufficient consideration to solidity.

South opened with one diamond, and North announced the arrival of good times by an immediate jump shift. It appeared to be a question of six or seven from the very outset, but to initiate the investigation, the jump shift to three clubs was the medium. South temporized by re-bidding the diamonds, and North wisely supported the suit at once to make it clear that trumps were in order. South was quite convinced that North had both missing aces, but to make assurance doubly sure, he made the Blackwood call of four no trump and confirmed his impression. Convinced that the North hand would contain a singleton club suit, South contracted for a grand slam at diamonds, which required no great dexterity to fulfill.

Accent on Youth
Shifted to Aged

BOSTON (U)—The social service problem has shifted from youth to the aged, says Patrick A. Tompkins, Massachusetts commissioner of public welfare, who has 25 years of his career behind him.

"When I started," says Tompkins, "the teen-age boy was the problem but now it's the aged. We've got to do more research, study more treatment methods and do something to abolish the loneliness that comes with advanced years."

YOUR MIND'S MIRROR

By JOSEPH WHITNEY

Should you avoid people you dislike?

Answer: Yes, and you will naturally avoid such people without thinking about it if you really dislike them. However, if your dislike makes you uncomfortable and the effort to avoid them takes up much of your time and attention, you would be wise to seek out the exact reason for your dislike. Very often, what we dislike in other people is a mirror of some unrecognized or unadmitted trait within ourselves which we don't like and which we unconsciously disapprove.

Is there such a thing as "blind rage"?

Answer: Not actually. There is no "fit of anger" in which an otherwise normal person does not know what he is doing. Anyone who uses such an excuse for breaking up furniture or smashing china is usually not to be relied on. In truth, he is motivated by a drive to destroy or change his environment, and he has learned through past experiences that his "blind rages" help him get what he wants. If his rage were really "blind," he would occasionally hurt himself.

Can you prevent a child's bad habits?

Answer: Often you can, if you know how and when they start. Unfortunately, the over-anxiety of many parents, particularly with their first child, is often a factor in establishing problem habits. Dr. Sydney S. Gellis, Harvard pediatrician, points out that a baby's appetite usually changes about age one and he starts demanding food at night. Parents may create or avoid confirmed eating and sleeping problems by the way they cope with this new situation.

YMCA SPEAKER
Dr. John Cocutz

Dr. Cocutz To Compare Stalin, Santa

Dr. John Cocutz, who was general secretary of the Baptist Union of Romania until he came to this country in 1939, will speak on "Christmas Behind the Curtain" at 7:30 p.m. today at the Atlanta YMCA. The public is invited.

Dr. Cocutz will discuss the fate of 800 million people behind the Iron Curtain and will answer the question, "How has Stalin replaced Santa Claus?"

A professor of philosophy at the Atlanta Division, University of Georgia, Dr. Cocutz is a graduate of the Baptist Theological Seminary of Bucharest, Romania. He has worked as one of the

MOTHER NATURE'S HELPERS

You Can Order a Santa From Bureau Here

If you thought that Mother Nature alone picks the characters who play Santa Claus, here's news for you:

Thirty-three local offices of the State Employment Service, Georgia Department of Labor, have been looking for Santa Clauses for weeks now—and they're very hard to please!

Holt Register, of the Atlanta office of the State Labor Department, is filling all local orders for Santa Clauses (placed by employers who do not have their private Kris Kringle stock), and he has a hard-headed, soft-hearted board of Santa Claus interviewers who are harder to fool than a draft board.

Several hundred Georgia firms have asked the employment service to provide Santas from the ranks of the unemployed and although they have plenty of people for most jobs, the interviewers report a scarcity of Santa types. "It's not that the physical characteristics are so important," said Register. "Wonders can be worked with beards and pillows. But we have to have people who are strong and healthy—no bunions, no communicable diseases, no rheumatic knees—and have the right attitude toward preserving the faith of little children. I don't know any job that we screen candidates for more carefully."

The office checks the history of all candidates for Santa jobs and then gives each a careful interview either by Julian Colquitt, assistant office manager, Ray Carroll, supervisor of the placement section, Mrs. Lena Turner or, toughest of all, a grandmother, Mrs. Anna Paul.
